Party Files Affidavits.

WASHINGTON, PA., Aug. 29.—(Special.)—Nomination papers for county offices were filed in court late this evening by the new Citizens-Fusion party, composed of anti-organization Republicans and Democrats. More than 700 names were on the papers filed in connection with the nomination affidavits.

LIST WAS NOT PADDED

Insurance Commissioner Martin Explains Philadelphia Registry.

VERY LITTLE FRAUD

Improper Registration Has Been Confined to a Very Few of Wards in Quaker City.

40,000 NAMES WILL BE PUT ON

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU, HARRISBURG, Aug. 30.

"It is not true that there are, or have been, 60,000 fraudulent names upon the assessors lists in Philadelphia. The statement made by the press of Philadelphia that such a number of fraudulent voters appear on the lists is misleading to the decent Republicans of Philadelphia and the state of Pennsylvania."

This declaration was made by David Martin, state commissioner of insurance, today, in discussing the political conditions in Philadelphia, especially with regard to the recent "exposures" of phantom lists and fraudulent names on the assessors' lists.

"There are at this time 55,000 names upon the lists which ought to come off," continued Mr. Martin, "but they are removals and deaths in most instances. The police canvass and the canvass made by the City party agents is unfair, in that while they give the number which ought to come off, they do not give the number which have moved in. In my own ward, the Nineteenth, the police canvass showed 1,886 names upon the lists, which should be stricken off, and their reports stopped there.

In Martin's Ward.

"I had a careful canvass made of the ward, and it showed 2,030 which should come off. Nearly all of these were removals and in addition, the names of 61 persons who had died; but, in the place of the 2,030 that removed, we put upon the lists, 2,004 that had moved into the ward and taken the places of those who had moved out. At the time the canvass was made we found 200 vacant houses. The majority of these will be occupied by September 5, and the persons occupying them will be entitled to vote at the November election, if otherwise qualified.

"The Republican party of Philadelphia is greatly misrepresented by the present situation. The 'padding' of the lists is confined to only a few wards, and it is unfair to the party to blame such work upon all of the wards. By the time the extra assessment is completed on September 5 it will show that nearly as many names will be added to the lists as are stricken off. There will not be an honest difference of over 15,000. If it were December there would not be an honest difference of over 5,000.

Many Names Left Off.

"In four-fifths of the wards in Philadelphia the decrease will not amount to over 200 names in each ward. In many wards there will be an increase over the May assessment of from 700 to 800 names. My reason for saying this is that so many people are out of the city at this time, their houses are closed and the police canvass reported such houses as containing no legitimate voters. A canvass of the city during the past month or six weeks does not show the real voting strength. The December assessment made in the middle of the winter, is, in my opinion, the only real test of the true voting population of Philadelphia."

DAVID MARTIN, State Commissioner of Insurance.

"Do you mean to say there has been no fraudulent assessment of voters, or no illegal voting in Philadelphia, in the past three or four years?" Mr. Martin was asked.

"I do not mean to say anything of the kind. The records of the courts prove that it has been done; but the Republican party has always shown itself to be big enough, and broad enough, to correct the evils that have crept into it, not only with regard to the conduct of elections, but with regard to all questions touching the welfare of the whole people and the country."

No Necessity for Padding.

"Do the representative men in the Republican party sanction, or have they sanctioned, the padding of the lists and the fraudulent voting?"

"No! It is absolutely unnecessary. We have a Republican majority in Philadelphia of 200,000, if every Republican votes, and every Democrat, Prohibitionist and Independent. Such frauds come about only through the failure of individual division workers to properly look after their divisions. If the leaders of the divisions would form the acquaintance, and gain the friendship of the decent Republicans in their divisions, there would be no need anywhere for fraud to be practiced. The Republican party has in its own ranks men who from principle alone vote the Republican ticket, and who would give

EARTH QUAKES AT PORTSMOUTH

Peace Envoys Get a Shaking. People Think Navy Yard Is Blown Up.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., Aug. 30.—A series of earthquake shocks, the most severe ever experienced in this section, were felt this afternoon. Buildings trembled perceptibly, dishes were shaken from shelves, and in many cases people rushed in terror from their houses into the street.

There were three distinct shocks, and in each instance the tremor was accompanied by a sound like distant explosion. The first impression was that the powder magazine at the navy yard had exploded. There had been no explosion, however, and the shocks were felt along the entire New Hampshire coast line.

The first shock was felt a little before 5:40 p. m., and the other shocks followed soon after. In the business section of the city the shopper and store employes rushed out into the streets, believing that the buildings were about to collapse. Each of the three shocks continued for several seconds.

NEGOTIATIONS OPEN TODAY.

Swedish and Norwegian Commissioners to Meet on Question of the Dissolution of Union.

CARLSBAD, Aug. 30.—(Special.)—The opening of the negotiations here tomorrow between the Swedish and Norwegian commissioners on the question of the dissolution of the union is awaited with intense interest. The question mostly discussed is as to what fortresses Sweden will call upon Norway to abolish.

The Norwegian delegates arrived tonight. Their hands are tied by the decision of the storthing that nothing shall be decided by them without its consent. The Swedish delegates will arrive in the morning.

Burglars Steal Safe of Jewels.

STAMFORD, CONN., Aug. 30.—A steel safe, which is understood to have contained $150 in cash and jewelry valued at over $30,000, disappeared from the summer residence of Paul Bonner at Nirvana-on-the-Sound, near Sound Beach, last night. The family believe that burglars entered the house and conveyed the safe to the shore and placed it aboard a vessel.

Equitable Cutting Off Pensions.

NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—(Special.)—The directors of the Equitable Life Assurance society today decided to abolish the pension of $25,000 now enjoyed by the widow of Henry B. Hyde, as well as the prospective pension of $18,000 which was to have been granted Mrs. Alexander on the death of her husband should she survive him.

Explode Bomb in New York.

NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—A bomb thrown against the front of the house of Michael Palladina, a wealthy contractor, in East One Hundred and Sixteenth street late tonight shattered the front door, smashed the windows and drove all of the inmates in haste to the street.

ARCANUM FIGHT ON RATES IS ON

Delegates to National Council Gather at Put-in-Bay to Discuss the Advance.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

PUT-IN-BAY, O., Aug. 30.—The first session of the special meeting of the supreme council of the Royal Arcanum to hear protests from delegates representing a number of states, relative to the recent advance in assessment rates made at the Atlantic City meeting, was held here this afternoon.

The sentiment of the meeting was to give a public hearing to the opposing delegates and a meeting for this purpose was held this evening. Some members of the supreme council claim that the resolutions condemning the new rates were hastily adopted and do not really express the views of the grand councils and members they represent. Protesting delegates representing Massachusetts, New York, Rhode Island, Connecticut, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Indiana, Missouri, Illinois and New Jersey have organized and adopted resolutions advocating that the supreme council's action as to rates be rescinded and if it fails the protesting delegates will call a meeting to determine on future action.

ECHO OF BIGGAR CASE.

Dr. Hendricks, Who Aided Plaintiff in Fight for Bennett's Money, Is Again In Court.

NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—(Special.)—Dr. Charles C. Hendricks, who achieved some notoriety by his connection with the suit of Laura Biggar against the estate of Henry Bennett of Pittsburgh, appeared before Judge Barr in the supreme court of Brooklyn today with a motion to set aside the decree of separation granted to his wife.

The decree was awarded to Mrs. Hendricks last July, on the ground of "cruel and inhuman treatment." Dr. Hendricks asserts the action was illegal as he has never been a resident of New York city. Judge Burr reserved decision.

Moving Sakhalin Inhabitants.

MARINSK, WEST SIBERIA, Aug. 30.—The Japanese have landed 5,000 inhabitants of the island of Sakhalin at De Castries, West Siberia, many of whom were women and children and some sick persons, who were forced to march to the coast, causing them terrible suffering. Help for these people is being organized under the supervision of the governor of this province.

Boerse Lists P. R. R. Bonds.

BERLIN, Aug. 30.—The board of control of the boerse today listed $100,000,000 2½ per cent convertible bonds of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, and also about $52,500,000 of 4 per cent first refunding mortgage gold bonds of the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific Railway Company.

Will Not Build Canadian Plant.

NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—(Special.)—The statement is made authoritatively that temporarily the United States Steel Corporation has put aside all plans for a steel plant in Canada. The domestic business of the corporation is at present occupying the company's entire attention.

TERMS DO NOT SATISFY

Both Russia and Japan Grumble at the Conditions of Peace.

BUSY ON THE TREATY

Legal Experts of Both Nations Are Working on the Great Document.

WITTE BETWEEN TWO FIRES

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., Aug. 30.—Actual work of drawing the "Treaty of Portsmouth" began today. It is being done by Dr. De Martens and Mr. Dennison, acting as legal advisers for the respective sides. While the "bases" of peace have been accepted by the plenipotentiaries, considerable detail remains to be worked out in the elaboration of the articles of the treaty.

This is especially true in regard to the articles dealing with the Chinese Eastern railway and the surrender of the leases of the Liaotung peninsula and Port Arthur and Dalny. M. Pokotiloff, the Russian minister to Pekin, who was formerly manager of the Russo-Chinese bank at Pekin, and who has intimate knowledge of all the details relating to those matters, is assisting Dr. De Martens. A very anomalous situation exists as to the impression created by the conclusion of peace. While the outside world applauds, in Japan there is evidently great disappointment in the terms and in Russia, where it would seem that there should be universal rejoicing over the great diplomatic victory M. Witte has won, the government seems to have received it coldly.

With the people it will make M. Witte a great and popular figure and add to his laurels, but at court evidently the very victory M. Witte has achieved makes it all the more bitterly resented.

Expected Witte to Fail.

It is an open secret that when the emperor appointed M. Witte chief plenipotentiary the "military party" expected him to fail. They did not want peace and it was freely predicted in St. Petersburg when M. Witte left that he had been given an impossible mission. They expected him to fail in the negotiations or to make a "bad peace," and either would have spelled political ruin. Instead, upon the very terms on which the emperor told Mr. Meyer he would make peace and upon which the military party did not believe it possible for peace to be negotiated, M. Witte succeeded in securing a treaty honorable, and under the circumstances, favorable to Russia. This has evidently only exasperated his enemies the more and intrigue is again at work to discredit him.

Since Japan was in a conciliatory mood they now say he made a mistake in surrendering half of Sakhalin. Yet he did so by the czar's orders and himself insists that personally he would have stuck to the end of his original declaration not to cede territory or give indemnity.

Not a word or a line about the receipt of the news comes out of Japan. In view of the situation both at Tokyo and St. Petersburg, alarmists are inclined to make much of the facts that the minutes of yesterday's fateful meeting have not been signed by the plenipotentiaries of the two powers. It is pointed out that either side could still repudiate the agreement, but both plenipotentiaries refuse to admit even the possibility of such a happening.

China Gets an Interest.

Most important of all is the fact that the formal recognition of Japan's possession of the Chinese Eastern railroad below Puenchengtsu, the junction of the branch of Kirin, involves payment by Russia to China of a sum estimated at $75,000,000. This is the Chinese interest in

FORCES FIGHT WHILE PEACE IS ANNOUNCED

Japanese Soldiers Attack and Defeat Russians in the Manchurian Field.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

TOKYO, Aug. 30.—Army headquarters has made the following announcement:

"In the direction of Haingcheng, on the morning of August 17, our forces attacked and defeated the enemy's mounted infantry several hundred strong near Yutinagisu, 30 miles northeast of Haingcheng.

"The enemy's infantry and one battalion of four guns advanced the same morning on Nachan Chentsu. They were immediately repulsed and chased toward Hokuanhsiang, some eight miles north of Nanchan Chentsu.

"Another body of the enemy, about one regiment of infantry, opened an attack on Kushantsu the same morning, and were repulsed.

"In the direction of Taolu our force dislodged the enemy's cavalry at Nantaikokou, some 20 miles southeast of Taolu, and occupied the place. Another force took Kushulin at noon, making a further advance to Nienparhoku, some 10 miles south of Taolu. Another force advanced toward Liangshuichentsu, 10 miles southwest of Taolu, dislodged the enemy's infantry and one battalion with some guns and hotly chased him northward."

NO CAUSE FOR COMPLAINT.

Gen. Leonard Wood Says Philippines Have Best Government They Ever Knew.

NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—(Special.)—Gen. and Mrs. Leonard Wood sailed today on the White Star line steamship Tuetonic for Liverpool. The general expects to get to the Philippines without delay.

"The Philippines are now under the best government they were ever under," he said, "and I cannot see what grievances the Filipinos have. There is now no trouble on the islands."

WILL AGAIN GO TO HAGUE

President Roosevelt Is to Call Second Peace Conference.

FOR ALL THE WORLD

Now There Is No Obstacle to a Meeting for Absolute Tranquility.

MEANS TRADE FOR AMERICA

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU, Room 30, Postal Building, WASHINGTON, Aug. 30.

One of the immediate results of the agreement between the Japanese and Russian envoys at Portsmouth will be the issuance by President Roosevelt of a second call for a second peace conference of the world at The Hague.

Mr. Roosevelt last October gave to the members of the Interparliamentary union notice that he would issue such a call and on the 25th of that month he sent out through the state department an invitation to the powers to send delegates to a supplementary conference to consider the questions left in abeyance by the conference called by the czar of Russia. Nearly all of the powers agreed to the principle of the proposal, but made answer that they considered in view of the existence of the war between Russia and Japan it would be well to postpone the conference until the war should have been concluded.

Now there seems to be no obstacle to the conference and it is believed here the president will take immediate steps in the matter. At least three questions have been raised in the last war which will be presented to the conference by the American delegates. They are:

The use of wireless telegraphy by newsgathering agencies and other neutrals in time of war.

The laying of submarine or floating mines and torpedoes either in channels of commerce used by neutral nations or in places whence they may escape into such channels and thus endanger non-belligerents.

The rights of belligerents in neutral ports and as a corollary of this the rights of neutrals when their harbors are used by the ships of belligerents.

To the first conference, held in 1899, the American delegates were Andrew D. White, former ambassador to Russia; Seth Low, Stanford Newell, former minister to the Netherlands; Capt. A. T. Mahan, United States navy (retired); Capt. William Crozier, now chief of the bureau of ordnance of the army, and Frederick W. Holls, secretary.

The first conference in its report presented six subjects which it was unable to agree upon, and which it held for future deliberation under the caption of "Wishes." They were: Revision of the Geneva convention; rights and duties of neutrals; types and calibers of rifles and naval guns; limitation of armed forces and military budgets; inviolability of private property in naval warfare; bombardment of ports by naval forces.

The advent of peace will also make it possible for the United States to send into Manchuria two custodians of the "open door" in the shape of consuls at Mukden and An Tung. These two cities were made open treaty ports by the Chinese-American commercial treaty signed in 1903.

HAD TO LEAP FOR LIFE

Couple Forced to Jump from Second Story Window to Escape Flames.

Fire broke out in a two-story frame house occupied by Joe Harber and wife, negroes, in Carpenter alley, near Caldwell street, at 2 o'clock this morning. Harber and his wife both had narrow escapes from death.

Harber was awakened by the crackling of the flames on the first floor. He started down the stairway but was driven back by the fire. Returning to his room, he awakened his wife and they both jumped from the second story window, receiving severe bruises. Harber was burned about the head, face and hands. The damage amounted to about $300.

GLASS PLANTS TO RESUME.

Members of the Amalgamated Branch of the Window Workers to Begin Operations.

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 30.—About 1,800 window glass workers, members of the Amalgamated Window Glass Workers of America, will start to work Saturday for 19 manufacturers.

Announcement was made by President A. L. Faulkner, of the Amalgamated Window Glass Workers of America, following a meeting of the executive committee of that organization held here today, that the outlook was most favorable for his organization and that no trouble was expected. Although the Burns scale was signed by the national association of window glass manufacturers, he says that only one plant will start to work Saturday with men belonging to L. A. No. 300.

Will Dismiss Head of Korean Customs.

SEOUL, Aug. 30.—John McLeavy Brown, who for 17 years past has been at the head of the Korean customs, is to be dismissed. This is probably due to the fact that the customs administration has been undertaken by M. Megata, the Japanese adviser of the Korean government, and is part of his general plan to reorganize Korean finance.

Young Bigley Saves Another Life.

Edward Bigley, a boy of Oakmont, who several days ago rescued two girls from drowning in the Allegheny river, yesterday brought James Wilson of Oakmont from the river in an unconscious condition. Williams was later revived. Williams and Fred Robinson fell from a barge and Robinson managed to reach shore without help.

SOME PECULIAR STUNTS ARE DONE BY TORNADO

Wind Storm Destroys Much Property at Carbondale, Pa., and Though Houses Are Carried Away, No Lives Are Lost.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

SCRANTON, PA., Aug. 30.—A tornado struck the northern part of Carbondale tonight and demolished a score of houses, barns and railroad cars, but fortunately caused no fatalities.

The storm came from the west and whirled toward the east, having a path of 200 feet. Its center had the appearance of a funnel-shaped cloud, not black, but luminous. There was no accompaniment of lightning, thunder or rain, and the stars were shining immediately before and after it passed. A peculiarity of its effects was that adjoining buildings were blown in diametrically opposite directions.

William Pope, his wife and children of Green street had the most thrilling experience thus far related. Their home was picked up by the wind and after being carried 40 feet, was hurled against the residence of Mrs. William Clune. The Pope house was completely demolished, yet no one was severely injured.

Three dwellings were totally destroyed; 10 were overturned or carried completely off their foundations, and fully 50 were more or less damaged. Two cabooses in the Delaware & Hudson yards were demolished and pieces of the wreckage carried 600 feet. Six freight cars on an adjacent track were overturned, and the roof of one of the freight cars was found half a mile away.

It was impossible to find any one who had been seriously injured, but scarcely any one met with, who was in the affected territory, escaped without some slight hurt.

The pranks of the storm seem almost incredible. A barn was blown away and a cow which it housed was left unhurt, lying on the floor calmly chewing her cud. A horse was found bruised and maimed on the porch of its owner's residence, 200 feet from the demolished barn in which it had been stabled. A six-inch beam which came from, no one knows where, passed through a door of a residence, thence through the ground floor and then passed into the ground for a distance of three feet. A carpet was blown from a floor and landed in a lump in a sink. This was the only damage done in this house.

In the residence of Lawrence Melvin in Forty-second street the clock door was blown open and the pendulum carried away. The clock was stopped at 5:50. The Erie dispatchers heard the rumbling approach of the storm and rushed to the windows, thinking to see a runaway train approaching. They saw the roof of the office sailing away before they could withdraw their heads.

A general fire alarm was sounded, and the whole city, it might be said, rushed to the scene. There was great consternation, but this was followed by equally great rejoicing when it was learned that there had been no loss of life. Whether the storm did any damage in the country region to the west of the city could not be learned because of the wires being down. Up to midnight no word had been received from this district.

POLICE ARE NOW UPON THE CASE

The Gazette Disclosures Awake Detectives in the Ryan Murder Mystery.

TWO FORCES ACT

Supt. Wallace Reaches a Suicide Verdict Without Leaving His Chair.

MORE FACTS MADE KNOWN

As a result of the disclosures made by The Gazette yesterday regarding the suspicious circumstances surrounding the death of Private Michael Ryan of Company I, Sixth United States infantry, an investigation has at last been started. Superintendent of Detectives Thomas McQuaide stated last night that he put a man on the case, while the county detectives will be ordered on the case this morning.

Not since the police were summoned on the night of Ryan's oath, August 16, has there been a police official ambitious enough to seek information or start an inquiry among the 70 or more men quartered at the arsenal. On the night of Ryan's mysterious death a police inspector, lieutenant, captain and two patrolmen, answered a summons to the grounds, and after viewing the remains rendered a snap verdict of suicide.

Investigation on Wrong Lines.

Several days later a deputy coroner cross-examined several of the soldiers on the grounds to deduce evidence that Ryan was addicted to drink. At the coroner's inquest questions inquiring into Ryan's sobriety were asked and little evidence on murder procured, but the verdict of the jury was "chloral poisoning administered by unknown hands." At the same time enough evidence is procurable among the soldiers pointing to the conclusion that Ryan died because he was mistaken for Dowd, to start a very healthy investigation.

Superintendent of Police Alexander Wallace was quoted yesterday as saying that Ryan committed suicide, though he has made no investigation.

Private Michael Ryan did not commit suicide, because he did not have the money to buy the chloral that killed him! Private Britt, who bought the glass of beer which Ryan drank in company with seven others on the night of his death, was seen last night and had this to say:

Ryan Did Not Have the Price.

"Ryan and I were inseparable companions. We slept together; knew each other's affairs in every detail. On the day of his death Ryan had not a cent. Nor did he on the day previous. He never had more than 20 cents in his possession any one day for a week previous to his death."

A professor holding the chair of chemistry in one of the local dental colleges said last night that if chloral was found in the stomach of Ryan he must have taken an enormous quantity. Chloral, if taken in small but still fatal doses, will decompose at once within the system and revert into chloroform, and if a small quantity had been taken chloroform would have been the only trace of poison found. Ryan must have taken at least an ounce of chloral to permit the drug to retain its form. An ounce of chloral retails at about $1. Ryan didn't have a dollar at any one time for two weeks previous to his death. Dr. Macey, post surgeon of the arsenal, when asked last night, stated it was his impression that if chloral was kept in other than a glass stoppered bottle, tightly sealed, it would liquify if exposed to the air in a man's pocket for some time.

Had Planned an Eastern Trip.

Private Britt, in continuing his story, said Ryan had prepared to go to New York the next day and had implored him to go along. "I'll go if it takes my last cent," was his declaration, expecting his back pay on the morrow. Britt had informed him he had also secured his furlough, but in jest told him he had not made up his mind to go, but would let him know the following morning; although it was his firm intention to go. Ryan then told Britt that when he got to New York he could get $100 from his relatives in Elizabeth, N. J., as they had always met his appeals, and that this would cover their expenses. This was the inducement offered to Britt to make the journey on the next day with a man who is charged by the police with committing suicide on the night before, and whose death has not been investigated.

Britt then told how he bought eight glasses of beer for 40 cents, and that Ryan, knowing him to have only 50 cents, excused himself, saying, "I'll see you at headquarters."

Ryan's Perfect Record.

Ryan was not a drinking man, and never missed roll call during his service; never missed a drill in nearly three years, and was never committed to the guard house during his enlistment. His record was a perfect one.

Some of the known facts that have remained uninvestigated and which give rise to strong suspicion that Ryan was murdered because he was mistaken for Dowd, who killed Crowley, are as follows:

First—Dowd, when he killed Crowley, and Ryan, when he died, were almost identical in appearance, each being mistaken and addressed for the other scores of times.

Second—Dowd had rarely ventured on the streets since his return. In feeble health a month ago and would have hardly been recognizable to those who knew him nearly two years ago. He goes to the hospital next week.

Dowd Had Often Been Threatened.

Third—Dowd had repeatedly been threatened with death.

Fourth—Ryan had re-enlisted on the day of his death for the purpose of going to the Philippine islands next December, the re-enlistment being especially voluntary.

Fifth—He had passed medical examination on the day of his death, and had been pronounced an exceptionally perfect specimen of healthy manhood.

Sixth—Ryan had secured a furlough to visit his relatives and had written them he would start on the day following his death.

Seventh—He awaited Private Britt's final decision to go with him in the morning.

Eighth—He did not have the money to buy the chloral that killed him.

Ninth—An investigation among the drug stores in the neighborhood discloses the fact that no soldier had purchased chloral in the past three months.

There are other and even more important circumstances surrounding this case to occasion more than suspicion that Ryan was the victim of a murderous and successful plot, and these leads are easily procurable by any police official who has the ambition to seek them.

THANKS ROLL IN FROM THE WORLD

Emperors, Statesmen, Learned Ones of the Earth Unite in Giving Credit.

TELEGRAMS ARE POURING IN

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., Aug. 30.—Among the scores of messages which were received by the president this afternoon under today's date were congratulations from Gen. Booth of the Salvation Army; Gen. King, commander-in-chief of the Grand Army of the Republic; Senators Platt of New York, Hansbrough of North Dakota, Alger of Michigan; Representative Hitt of Illinois, chairman of the house foreign committee; the archbishop of Canterbury, Andrew Carnegie, and the latter's guests at Skibo castle. That from Gen. Booth read:

Beg your excellency to accept my heartfelt congratulations on successful issue of your able and persistent efforts on behalf of peace. The whole world, civilized and uncivilized, is indebted to you.

That from Skibo castle was as follows:

Skibo guests thankfully congratulate you and the three continents upon the conclusion of honorable and, we hope, lasting peace between two great empires. May this war be the last between civilized peoples.

ARCHBISHOP OF CANTERBURY.
JOHN MORLEY,
NICHOLAS MURRAY BUTLER,
CHARLES DABNEY,
RICHARD HARLAN,
GEN. GRANT WILSON,
ANDREW CARNEGIE.

Among the first messages received was one from the king of England, as follows:

Let me be one of the first to congratulate you on the successful issue of the peace conference, to which you have so greatly contributed. EDWARD R. I.

Soon afterward, a notably cordial cablegram was received from Emperor William of Germany. It read:

Just received cablegram from America announcing agreement of peace conference on preliminaries of peace. I am overjoyed, express most sincere congratulations at the great success, due to your untiring efforts. The whole of mankind must unite, and will do so, in thanking you for the great boon you have given it.

WILLIAM I. R.

William J. Bryan sent a message crediting the president with the peace agreement, as follows:

JANESVILLE, WIS., August 29.
President Roosevelt:
Accept congratulations. Your successful efforts to secure peace between Russia and Japan reflect credit on the nation.

WILLIAM J. BRYAN.

Cordial messages were received also from senators and representatives in congress congratulating the president on his great triumph for peace, also one from former Secretary of State John W. Foster.

Chentung Liang Cheng, Chinese minister, wired as follows:

I beg to offer my hearty congratulations for the successful conclusion of peace, for which the whole world, especially the Orient, is ever indebted to you.

CHENTUNG LIANG CHENG.

BERLIN, Aug. 30.—Emperor William today received the following cablegram from President Roosevelt in reply to his majesty's congratulations on the result of the peace conference cabled yesterday:

I thank you most heartily for your congratulations, and wish to take this opportunity to express my profound appreciation of the way you co-operated at every stage in the effort to bring about peace in the Orient. It has been a very great pleasure to work with you towards this end.

CHRISTIANIA, NORWAY, Aug. 30.—The Nobel peace prize committee today cabled to President Roosevelt congratulations on his work "for the peace of the world and for humanity."

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 30.—The following is the text of M. Witte's cablegram to Emperor Nicholas announcing peace:

I have the honor to report to your majesty that Japan has agreed to your demands concerning conditions of peace, and that consequently peace will be established, thanks to your wise and firm decision, and in strict conformity with the instructions of your majesty.

Russia will remain in the far east the great power which she has hitherto been and will be forever.

We have applied to the execution of your orders all our intelligence and our Russian hearts. We beg your majesty mercifully to forgive that we have been unable to do more.

ARTIST FIALA SAYS THE RIGHT PLAN IS YET TO TRY

Polar Expeditions Should Be Undertaken With Plenty of Men and Ships.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—Anothy Fiala, the Brooklyn artist who headed the illfated Arctic exploration of the late William Ziegler, and who was in the polar region for two years, returned today on the White Star liner Oceanic. He spoke freely about his experiences, but that proper exploration of the far north will never be made along the lines thus far attempted.

"I believe an expedition has a poor chance of reaching the pole," he said, "without it is composed of a large party. It must be made up of men willing to remain in that region for from 5 to 10 years. It might be necessary to send a number of ships to act as stations.

"The Peary expedition should get further north than any other. Another way to get to the pole would be to have a drift boat of coarse steel, but it must be of great resistance and able to crush the ice. Then, again, an expedition must be equipped with wireless telegraphy."

FIGURES REMAIN NEAR SAME POINT FOR DAYS

This Gives New Orleans Citizens Reason to Hope the Worst Is All Over.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 30.—Official report to Wednesday, 8 p. m., shows new cases, 46; total to date, 1,878; deaths, 4; total to date, 271; new foci, 13.

The number of new yellow fever cases has hovered around the same figure for three days. The new feature of the situation outside of the city was the development of two cases in Vicksburg, which were pronounced yellow fever by Surgeon Guiteras. He has been relieved of duty with the New Orleans office and will be subject to orders direct from Washington.

Reports from Patterson indicate an improvement in the situation, but the proximity of infection on a neighboring plantation where the owners have refused to co-operate with the authorities, is a menace.

WILL WHISTLE SOFTLY UNTIL PEACE IS SECURE

President Roosevelt Declares That the Warring Nations Are Not Yet Out of the Woods on All Subjects.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., Aug. 30.—"Whistle softly, we are getting into thin timber; but we are not yet out of the woods."

This homely admonition represents accurately President Roosevelt's view of the situation at Portsmouth. Peace is in sight, but yet is not an accomplished fact. Profoundly as he is gratified at the results already achieved by the plenipotentiaries, the president realizes fully that most important work yet remains to be done. Until that is accomplished, it is scarcely the part of wisdom, he thinks, to do more than "whistle softly."

It is probable the president may make a formal expression concerning the work accomplished at Portsmouth by the Russian and Japanese envoys, but the intimation today was that he would not make such a statement, in any event, until he had been assured of the success of the conference.

The president has no definite idea how long the plenipotentiaries may be engaged in the negotiations of the treaty of peace. He believes that it ought not to take a great length of time, because the points of difference having been resolved, the incorporation of the tentative agreement reached becomes practically only a question of phraseology.

The importance of the text of the various sections of the treaty is not minimized by the president and he appreciates thoroughly that obstacles may arise at any moment that might delay seriously the negotiations or possibly wreck them entirely. The woods will not be cleared entirely until the treaty is signed and sealed.

The place to be selected for the appending of signatures to the treaty raises a question of interest. It was assumed, prior to the meeting of the conferees, that the treaty, wherever it might be negotiated, would be signed in Washington, and be known hereafter as the "treaty of Washington," as the conference itself, although held at Portsmouth is known as the Washington conference. It is proposed that the signing of the treaty take place at Sagamore Hill, as a compliment to President Roosevelt for his part in initiating the conference and bringing it to a successful issue. The treaty then would be known as "the treaty of Sagamore Hill," and would go down in history along with many other important conventions which have been concluded at places other than continental capitals. This question lies wholly with the conferees and it is likely to remain undetermined until they practically have concluded their work.

PEACE TERMS DO NOT SATISFY RUSSIA OR JAPAN

the road and for if China must be remunerated.

The question of the ultimate possession of the road is a matter to be settled between Japan and China. Japan can keep the road or surrender it to China, demanding in return the money paid by Russia to China. If she elects the latter course Japan will, therefore, obtain as an indirect "spoil of war" from Russia the above mentioned sum in addition to reimbursement for the cost of maintaining the Russian prisoners of war, for which Japan will present an itemized bill.

Japan is known to have given her word to China not to retain the railroad, which was really built for strategic purposes. But if China prefers the money to the railroad, Japan could not be accused of bad faith. Inasmuch as Japan was desirous, even before the war, of extending the then projected Korean railroad, which is already in operation, so as to eventually connect with the Eastern Chinese and Shan Kwang roads and in the negotiations which preceded hostilities, asked Russia to bind herself not to impede this aim, it is considered likely that she would herself prefer the railroad to the money.

Must Pay Money to Japan.

In addition to turning over the money obtained from Russia, China, if she took the railroad, would therefore have to reimburse Japan for the expenses incurred by her in restoring the road, rebuilding the bridges and changing the gauge. Whether it remains in the hands of Japan or ultimately becomes a part of the system of Chinese imperial railroads, a traffic arrangement must be made with the part still in the possession of the old Chinese Eastern Company, the stock of which is held by the Russo-Chinese bank. This adjustment will be arranged later.

Both Russia and Japan, if the latter retains the road, are to be allowed to have "railroad guards" for the protection of the railroad property, and, in case of disorder calculated to threaten their interests are mutually to be permitted to send troops, but the number is in no case to exceed those required, and they are to be forthwith recalled as soon as their mission is accomplished.

This, likewise, is a very important provision and with the East and West Chinese Eastern line and the Southern line as far as Kuenchentse, still in Russia's possession, would, in case of a future issue, give her control of the largest part of Manchuria—the whole vast territory from the fertile valley to the Sungari, called the "granary" of the province, northward.

Another important provision is that Japan's succession to the Port Arthur and Liaotung lease which Russia surrenders is conditional upon China's assent.

The armistice was not arranged today and it is not improbable that the armistice will be concluded directly by the generals on the field of battle.

Much Depended on M. Witte.

Wonderfully dramatic and tragic were the circumstances at the stores building in the navy yard yesterday when M. Witte came from the secret conference room in which peace was decided upon and made the announcement to his secretaries. Upon the word he was to utter to them, depended, perhaps, the immediate fate of a hundred thousand lives. Every preparation had been made at St. Petersburg and at the front to continue the war. The military party was determined and Linevitch was to try conclusions with Oyama.

If a rupture had come the signal was to be given to Linevitch and an imperial manifesto, already prepared, would have been issued proclaiming to the Russian people the impossibility of accepting the conditions asked by Japan and calling upon the Russian people to support the czar and the government in its decision not to pay tribute to the foe. Neither M. Witte nor any member of the Russian mission believed it possible that Baron Komura, by giving way upon all disputed points, would place it in the power of the Russian plenipotentiaries, acting within their instructions to conclude peace. Every preparation for departure had been made. The Russians had not only packed their trunks, but a special train had been engaged to take the party to New York.

Would Resume Fighting.

Witte went to the navy yard without hope that his adversaries would accept the ultimatum given by the czar. His secretaries knew his decision and it can be imagined with what anxiety they awaited in an adjoining room the result of the secret conference. A code had been arranged to cover the contingency of a rupture and if the fatal words were uttered when M. Witte emerged from the room, one of the secretaries was to go hastily to the private telephone which connected directly with the Russian headquarters, announce the rupture which was to be cabled instantly to St. Petersburg and flashed along to Manchuria as the signal for Linevitch to attack.

The phrase agreed upon was a conventional one. For almost an hour the secretaries waited, their nerves at high tension. Suddenly the door was thrown open and M. Witte stepped out. His face was flushed. He seemed to be restraining himself as he advanced. The secretaries held their breath until suddenly he stopped. Instead of words that might mean death to those far away on the battlefield of Manchuria, which they expected, he exclaimed:

"Gospoda, mir" (gentlemen, peace).

Overcome With Emotion.

The secretaries could hardly credit their senses. Then suddenly they realized the great victory their chief had won and impelled by a single impulse they hastened forward. M. Witte held out his arms. M. Korostovets was the first to reach the chief whom they all adore. He threw himself into M. Witte's arms and embraced and kissed him on both cheeks after the Russian fashion. Then in turn M. Witte embraced and gave the kiss of peace to M. Nabokoff and M. Plancon. All were overpowered with emotion.

In the midst of the preparations that had been made at St. Petersburg for continuing the war, which included not only plans for an immediate attack by Linevitch and the issue of an imperial manifesto but orders for new mobilizations, the stunning effect of M. Witte's announcement to the emperor that he had agreed upon terms of peace can be imagined and will help to explain the coldness with which it was received by the official world and consternation it caused in the ranks of the "war party."

The following statement of the Japanese argument which governed their decision to waive the question of indemnity can be accepted as authoritative:

Japan realised fully she was making a sacrifice for peace, but she was looking to the future. It was not a question of whether the war could be successfully continued, but of whether peace was not now more advantageous to Japan. Japan had already gained all she fought for. It was only the "spoils of war" that remained, and having achieved the real objects of the war she could afford to forego the spoils rather than be placed in the position of fighting for money. While Japan believed she was entitled to the spoils she felt that her position was so strong, her successes so complete that she could yield without detracting from the force of her victory.

POLICEMAN KILGALLON PICKED AS THE KISSER

Mrs. Mary B. Dick Points Him Out When the East End Officers Line Up.

As a result of the complaint filed at the police station in Frankstown avenue, East Liberty, that an officer attempted to kiss Mrs. Mary B. Dick while she was returning to her home, 234 Frankstown avenue, after having been to Homestead with a party in an automobile, as exclusively reported by The Gazette yesterday, Policeman James Kilgallon was yesterday charged with conduct unbecoming an officer by Acting Police Inspector John Callan of the East End district. The alleged hold-up by the officer occurred about 2 a. m. in Ellsworth avenue, near Spahr street. Superintendent Wallace yesterday said Kilgallon will be given a hearing by the police trial board Wednesday, and if the charge is proved he will be dismissed from the force.

Kilgallon's identification was rather dramatic, and was made in the presence of his superior officers and the officers reporting for night duty at the police station. Mrs. Dick, on reporting the alleged assault, was unable to tell the name of the officer. She was instructed to return to the station house Tuesday evening, and when the officers lined up for roll call she would have an opportunity to point out her assailant.

When all the officers had been lined up before the railing in the court room Mrs. Dick looked them over and, pointing at Kilgallon, exclaimed:

"There is the man."

Callan reported to Superintendent Wallace the name of the officer accused and Kilgallon was suspended.

Wallace stated yesterday that the people who were in the automobile party will also be looked up and requested to attend the hearing. The superintendent said he is not positive who was in the party, but he intimated he will have their names before the time set for the hearing. Wallace, Director Moore, who will return to the city Monday, and the acting inspector will hear the evidence of Mrs. Dick and her friends and that of Kilgallon.

Bond Issue Is Not Settled.

W. D. Henry, president of the National Fire Proofing Company, said last evening that a final decision had not been reached concerning the proposed issue of $2,500,000 of bonds by that company.

There will be a regular meeting of the board of directors of the company on September 14, when the question will come up.

their time and money for the defense of its principles."

"What about the present ticket which has been nominated in Philadelphia?"

Ticket Named Too Soon.

"That ticket was nominated and put in the field too soon. Early nominations are in my opinion always unadvisable. They should never, even under normal conditions be made until some time in September. That ticket was nominated in June. As to the present candidates on the ticket I believe, that in the interest of the Republican party, which is bigger than any one man, or any set of men, they should and will withdraw."

"Well, then, how will you fill the vacancies?"

"There is only one legal way in which the vacancies can be filled and that is by the campaign committee of the Republican party. This matter is governed by the act of assembly and the rules of the party as at present in force."

"What type of men should, in your opinion, be put upon the ticket in the place of those who withdraw?"

"The candidates should represent the highest type of citizenship, and the best Republican sentiment. Their candidacy should command at once the approval of the people and give no cause for opposition of any kind in the Republican ranks."

Plenty of Material.

"Philadelphia has plenty of material for candidates of this character, and such a ticket will be elected. Generally speaking the Republican organization in Philadelphia is made up in the majority of a well trained army of workers, ready and willing at all hours of the day and night to serve the men who are friends of the Republican party. For Republicans to play into the hands of bargaining Democrats, to my mind, is wrong. If the Republican party in Philadelphia has made mistakes in the past, let the men who have the best interests of the Republican party at heart stay within the party and drive out men whom they believe have no place in it. There is no sense in men going out of the party over into the camp of the enemy, and leaving the party in control of men whom they believe have misused it."

"I see the newspapers of Philadelphia stated yesterday the Republican city committee intends to add 90,000 to 95,000 names to the lists, in the place of 75,000 which will be stricken off?"

"That statement is ridiculous. There will not be 75,000 stricken off. The total number stricken off the list will not amount to over 55,000. In the places of these names there will be added the names of about 40,000 legitimate voters, a decrease of 15,000. I want to say that in my opinion any assessor in any division of Philadelphia, or any member of the Republican organization who attempts to falsify any registry list for the coming election, is a fit subject for an insane asylum. I stated in the Republican city committee on last Monday a week, that I would be in favor of prosecuting any assessor or any one who assisted an assessor in falsifying any list.

"My statement still stands, and if I find that it has been done in any division, or if I have reasonable cause to believe that it has been done, I will at the next meeting of the city committee after September 6 make a motion the committee instigate criminal proceedings against the guilty parties. There is no need for fraud of any kind in the assessment."

"The papers this morning say the city party accuses you of having fictitious names on its lists in your ward?"

"That is too ridiculous for me to answer. Out of an assessment of 14,534 voters I see that they claim there are 27 fictitious names. There may be a mistake of 27 out of a total of 14,534, but I will leave the assessment of the 5th and 6th of September answer for itself."

MRS. TAGGART ON THE GRIDIRON

Attorney for Prosecution Subjects Her to a Searching Cross-Examination.

COUSIN BILLY A "HANDY MAN"

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

WOOSTER, O., Aug. 30.—Mrs. Taggart today went through a searching cross-examination conducted by Attorney Sterling. On the witness stand she admitted that the evening before Congressman Berry's deposition was taken she had drunk a glass of beer with him in his room at Newport. She admitted that during the time when Capt. Taggart was away from his home in Manila, she frequently went driving on the Lunetta, sometimes with Capt. Bash, and other officers.

Attorney Sterling asked her if Taggart did not contribute $50 toward the expense of the cotillion, which figured in the trial. The witness said she did not know. Sterling attempted to show that $300 of the money was in repayment of money contributed by Mrs. Taggart toward the purchase of the farm at Orrville for Taggart's sister, Mrs. Taggart said the farm transaction took place long after the cotillion. Sterling then succeeded in getting from Mrs. Taggart an admission that against her husband's wishes she went over to Poore's house one Sunday morning. She said Taggart was very "mad" about it and told her that if she went it would be against his wishes.

Attorney Sterling then took up the association of Mrs. Taggart with Clinton Spencer in Chicago, but the defense objected and the court ordered the affair dropped. The cross-examination then turned its attention to events transpiring in Orrville, in which "Billy" Taggart figured so prominently.

"Cousin Billy" a "Handy Man."

What did Billy do at your house? asked Sterling.

He split kindling and carried in the coal, replied Mrs. Taggart.

How does it come that you and "Billy" registered at the Windsor hotel, in Akron, as being from Orrville?

I could not say, she replied.

What kind of a man was "Billy?"

Mrs. Taggart replied with ease, Oh, a kind of a handy man.

Mrs. Taggart was then asked to identify a letter written to her by "Billy" Taggart at Orrville at the time the captain arrived there from San Francisco. She said that she received the letter. Attorney Sterling then asked Judge Eason to adjourn the court on account of the heat. Judge Eason refused to grant the request saying: "I don't think it is fair to the taxpayers of Wayne county to run the court in such a haphazard way as regards the time of adjourning. It is the rule in this court to keep regular hours and we will not adjourn before time."

Attorney Taylor then stepped to the witness stand and asked Mrs. Taggart if she was tired and she replied, "No, not a bit; go ahead."

"Well then, we wish to offer this letter in evidence, your honor," said Sterling. Attorney Wertz read the letter aloud. It was as follows:

"Billy" Is "Johnny on the Spot."

Dear Grace:—I received your letter about the captain and the children. They are here. The boys had no clothes but those on their backs. The captain invited me down to his house the other evening, and when I went he asked me to have a drink. Then he asked me to have another and another, I took about three and then told him I had about enough. He wanted to fill me up. I wondered what was coming next. He then asked me what you were doing while you were here in Orrville and if I had heard any gossip about you, but I didn't know anything. He asked me where you got your money here and how much you used, but I said I didn't know. He won't get anything out of me. I suppose you know by this time he has got out an injunction and is going to sue for divorce. Write me whenever you want anything and I will do it for you on the Q. T. I am Johnny on the spot and you need not be afraid of your letters going over. I, for no one will get hold of them. I have a post-office boy and keep the key in my pocket. Now, don't be afraid to write me and write soon. Your cousin, BILLY.

"Did you receive that letter?" was asked of Mrs. Taggart.

"Yes, sir; I think so," she replied.

Stranger to Vermuth.

At this point Judge Eason adjourned court until tomorrow morning and Mrs. Taggart stepped down from the stand apparently as fresh as when she entered court this morning. During this morning's cross-examination Sterling provoked a few smiles by asking what vermuth was. She told of the visitors calling on her at Fort Thomas and of setting out a drink of vermuth for them.

What is vermuth? asked Sterling.

I don't know, she replied. You will have to ask the captain about that.

Did you entertain great hopes for your husband's welfare and success when you were married? she was asked.

Yes, sir, I did.

Do you now entertain those high hopes for his future success?

Yes, sir, I still hope for his success.

Sterling asked her about drinking, card playing and many other things, but the witness denied that she was in any way a victim of these social vices.

Taft Party Sails Today.

MANILA, Aug. 30.—The transport Logan, with Secretary Taft and party on board, will sail for Japan tomorrow, August 31, at noon.

GREAT ORDER'S HONOR FOR FATHER FIDELIS

Father Fidelis was yesterday elected provincial of the Passionist monasteries of the United States, the highest place in the order in this country. Father Fidelis is presiding over the deliberations of the triennial chapter which elected him, and the honor came as a great surprise. The chapter is meeting at the monastery in Mt. Oliver.

Father Fidelis was the Rev. James Kent Stone before conversion to Catholicism and had been president of the Episcopalian college at Kenyon, O., and later of Hobart college, Geneva, N. Y.

Black Family Reunites.

BUTLER, PA., Aug. 30.—(Special.)—The annual reunion of the Black family was held today at the farm of Samuel Jackson Black near Annandale station on the Pittsburgh, Bessemer & Lake Erie railroad. Bad weather kept the attendance down to 300. A special car carried the Butler members of the family to the reunion.

Steel Rail Price Remains Same.

NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—The announcement that the United States Steel Corporation had decided to maintain the steel rail prices to its customers for 1906 at $28 a ton was made today at the office of Judge Gary, chairman of the board of directors of the company.

FLINN PROJECTS TWO SUBWAYS

Work Begins In a Few Months on Line from Grant Boulevard to Craig Street.

FREIGHT TUNNEL WAITS YEAR

"In two or three months we will probably have matters in shape to proceed with the construction of the Duquesne tunnel from the Grant boulevard and Seventh avenue to Craig street and Ellsworth avenue. The freight tunnel project will be held back for a year longer to ascertain whether the Chicago freight tunnel proves a success.

"These two were my only projects in the tunnel line. The charters for the underground line were applied for by John S. Weller, my attorney, after I had gone to Europe, and I don't know anything about them."

Thus spoke former Senator William Flinn yesterday in discussing his tunnel projects, which started a lively contest with the Fording syndicate after his departure for Europe eight weeks ago. Mr. Flinn returned yesterday morning from New York, where he landed the previous day. His arrival in town was not generally known until last night. Mr. Flinn spent the day inspecting his farm back of Sharpsburg.

Will Not Go to Councils.

"I cannot say just how far the tunnel plans are advanced until I have consulted the engineer," said Mr. Flinn. "No, it will not be necessary for me to secure a franchise from the city councils to build a tunnel, unless we wish to make entrances to the tunnels from the streets or otherwise occupy the streets. We are not applying under the act of 1901.

"We believe that the proposed tunnel from Seventh avenue and Grant boulevard out to Ellsworth avenue and Craig street will be valuable, but we have made no arrangements for surface lines to connect with the tunnel. That is to be considered later. It remains to be seen by the experience of Chicago whether a freight tunnel would pay here. The tunnel in Chicago is the first of its kind anywhere and is, therefore, an experiment."

Mr. Flinn said he could not estimate the total investment of capital proposed in his tunnel lines. He denied that the Pittsburgh Railways Company has any connection with his tunnel plans. He said he had not visited the tunnels in Paris or London because he regarded the New York subway as superior to both. In his automobile Mr. Flinn, his son Rex and his two daughters toured the continent, the machine traveling a total of 4,900 miles.

Fording Files Protest.

Another move in the fight at Harrisburg in the struggle for charters and valuable franchises in Pittsburgh has been made by Attorney A. O. Fording. The incorporators of the Pittsburgh Subway Company, headed by H. F. Baker, have filed with the secretary of the commonwealth a protest against granting a charter to the Fifth Avenue Subway Company. Fifth avenue tunnel is protected to extend under Fifth avenue from Liberty avenue to Atwood street.

The protest is based upon the ground that the general corporation act of 1874, under which the application was made, does not authorize the incorporation of a tunnel company to connect the public highways, and that the present application is an attempt to evade the provisions of the elevated and underground passenger railway law of 1901, and particularly of that supplement to the latter law which requires an application for an elevated or underground railway to be passed upon by a board.

MILLION DOLLAR RUMOR SETS POLITICAL MOUTH WATERING

Lewis Emery Is Reported to Have Donated That Sum to Lincoln Party Fund.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 30.—A million dollar rumor is exciting the insurgents of Philadelphia, and a few of the interior counties. It is the only tangible asset of the new "Lincoln party," born yesterday at Harrisburg, which took out its naturalization papers here today, pre-empting, locally, the title which it requires to mask its career of political irregularity.

The rumors run that ex-Senator Lewis J. Emery, Jr., of McKean county, stands ready to finance the Lincoln party to the extent of a cool million for the purpose of defeating Lew Pfahler, the Republican candidate for state treasurer, thus establishing for the new party a "reputation" which will enable it to elect Mr. Emery governor to succeed Samuel W. Pennypacker.

Even the City party, the chairman of which is Franklin Brewer, superintendent of John Wanamaker's store, has heard the Emery rumor and is making arrangements to have itself absorbed by the Lincoln party and the change of title will soon be announced. Attorney H. C. Niles of York, Jacob Leisenring of Altoona, George R. Mapes and James Bateman of Philadelphia, are the incorporators of the party and the Emery gubernatorial boom. Local representatives of Emery say he is arranging for mass meetings in every county of the state for the purpose of nominating local tickets.

CHESTER D. POTTER.

POSTCARD BETRAYS ALLEGED EMBEZZLER

Leonard F. Wells, who is said to have done the Pittsburgh Street Railways Company out of $25.25, was arrested Tuesday at the barns of the Public Service corporation of Hoboken, N. J., on a warrant sworn out by the Pittsburgh Railways Company, charging him with embezzlement. He was committed for 15 days to enable the Pittsburgh authorities to forward his extradition papers. His undoing is said to have been caused by the interception of a postal to a friend, which read: "When you have cleaned them out there, come here. This is great graft."

A FARMER'S POSSE GIVES MEN BEATING

Anthony Lyons, aged 32, and Walter Miller, aged 41, coal miners of Scott Haven, were lodged in the county jail last night on a charge of horse stealing. The information was made by Henry Gephart of Scott Haven, and the men were captured after a long chase by a posse of farmers and given a severe beating with whips and hay rakes before the arrival of a constable with the warrants for their arrest. They will be given a hearing before Justice Hath.

EDWARDS WILL NOT ENTER RACE

He Announces He Is Not a Candidate for the Republican Nomination for Register.

CITY COMMITTEE TONIGHT

Fred W. Edwards will not be a candidate for the Republican nomination for register of wills. He made the formal announcement yesterday he would not enter the Republican primaries, but would be found with his coat off for the Republican ticket in November.

The decision of Edwards to keep out of the primaries leaves three candidates for register in the field. The aspirants are Robert E. Stone of McKeesport, Andrew S. Miller of Bellevue and Robert C. Routh of Allegheny. Stone and Miller have been especially active in their canvass. Miller said yesterday he is satisfied there will be a big vote polled in the primaries.

Under the Republican rules Friday will be the last day for announcing in time to enter the Republican primaries. Soon after that date the candidates will have to deposit the $500 fee with the county chairman. This money is used to defray the expenses of printing and the holding of the election.

The men who were active in the old Union party are now the backers of the Lincoln party. The appellation has been dug out of the political scrap pile by the Wanamaker crowd in Philadelphia to be used in the campaign against J. Lee Plummer, the Republican candidate for state treasurer. The plan is to indorse William H. Berry of Chester, the Democratic nominee.

The patent for the use of the Lincoln party name in this county was yesterday taken out at the prothonotary's office. The signers are Henry S. Paul, H. F. Davis, Thomas J. Hamilton, T. M. Walker and Edward B. Clark. They were prominently connected with the Union party. There has been no decision about the nomination of a county ticket.

The Pittsburgh Republican city committee will meet tonight at 8 o'clock in common council chamber. The meeting is for the purpose of adopting the new rules. So far the Allegheny city committee has done nothing toward making its rules conform to those adopted by the county committee.

"Ajax" Jones old Grand Central Republican club will hold a meeting in the Franklin school Monday night. At the gathering there will be a discussion of the course of the organization in the Republican county primaries.

The Citizens party evening organ last night announced the Citizens party would nominate Robert K. Cochrane for prothonotary in the event of his being defeated for the Republican nomination for recorder. Last night Mr. Cochrane issued a statement denying the story.

"I wish to say," said he, "to the voters of the county that I am a Republican; that I have always been a Republican, and that I always will be a Republican. I have confidence in the voters of the county and I want to say to them that if I am nominated or defeated I will support the entire Republican ticket at the November election."

MARGARET AUGLIN TO OPEN BELASCO THEATER

Manager Sammis Gives More Details of New Theater's Plans— Music a Special Feature.

George Washington Sammis, the manager for Shubert's theater, the Belasco, is an exceedingly busy man these days. Mr. Sammis declares that the newly furnished and redecorated playhouse will be ready for opening on the evening of Monday, September 11, and declares that Margaret Anglin in a new play called "Zira" will be the attraction. Miss Anglin, it will be remembered, is a former Frohman stage favorite and was for several years leading woman of the Empire Theater Stock Company. She is an emotional actress of strong and intelligent personality. Her greatest emotional triumph was perhaps in "Lady Dane's Defense," in conjunction with Charles Richman. Miss Anglin's play had its premier in San Francisco during the latter part of last season and is said to be an emotional drama of absorbing interest. Miss Anglin will be supported by an unusually strong company, including Frank Worthing, Jameson Lee Finney, Beverly Sitgreaves and Mrs. Thomas Whiffen.

Incidentally it may be revealed that the Belasco will make a special feature of its orchestra music, and to this end an especially fine group of musicians will be assembled under the leadership of Oscar Radin, for several seasons leader of the Grand orchestra, and last year at the Alvin. Mr. Radin is an ambitious and talented composer as well as a violinist and leader of exceptional ability.

Blanche Bates will make the premier production of her new Belasco play, "The Girl of the Golden West," at the new Penn avenue house, a compliment that Mr. Belasco pays the Shuberts in return for the naming of the theater. The date of this premier is not definitely settled, but it will be in the early fall.

NEXT WEEK'S PLAYS.

What the Various Local Theaters Will Offer in Music, Burlesque and Drama.

At the Nixon Henry W. Savage will present for a brief return engagement the beautiful Korean opera by George Ade and Gustav Luders, "The Sho-Gun." This was one of the great successes of last season. It returns to the Nixon with the same strong cast and a new and more beautiful chorus and ensemble. Seat sale tomorrow. There will be a special Labor day matinee at the Nixon Monday.

Commencing with a Labor day matinee, on Monday, the Alvin will have as a special attraction Nat M. Wills, the well-known comedian, in "The Duke of Duluth," which is an operatic farce written and staged under the personal direction of the author, George H. Broadhurst, who has become widely known through his successful farces, "Why Smith Left Home," "The Wrong Mr. Wright," etc. Mr. Wills made a pronounced success last season in "A Son of Rest" and was for many years an idol in vaudeville. This new vehicle is said to fit Mr. Wills' talents admirably.

The offering at the Bijou, commencing Monday matinee, Labor day, will be the phenomenally successful Chinese-American play, "The King of the Opium Ring," by Charles E. Blaney. The piece, it is said, does not belie its name. It is a sensational melodrama in the full sense of the phrase.

"A Wife's Secret," Spencer and Aborn's successful emotional-dramatic production, will be seen at the Empire theater beginning with a special matinee Monday, Labor day. This play is said to contain a story of human nature, bright, original comedy, thrilling sensations, a cast of general excellence and an elaborate scenic production.

"The Avenue Girls" is the name of a new burlesque aggregation that will come to the Academy Monday next with matinee. The 40 clever members of "The Avenue Girls" present two elaborate musical and comedy creations, "A Trip to Bohemia" and "The Goddess of the Moon." At the Gayety the Bon-Ton Burlesquers, an old favorite—made new—will be the attraction.

CHIEF BUILDER IS CALLED HOME

William Patterson, Creator of Many Great Industries, Dies at New Castle.

POWER IN FINANCIAL CIRCLES

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

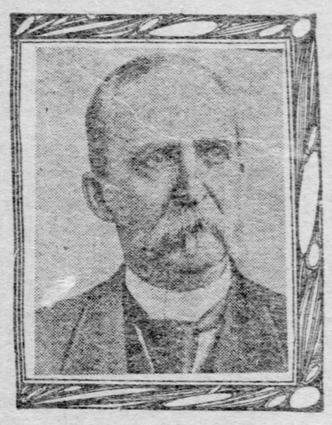
NEW CASTLE, PA., Aug. 30—William Patterson died here this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock after a two months' illness. He was first stricken by appendicitis, but later recovered from that disease. Complications, which followed, caused his death. He was one of the most prominent figures in financial circles in this part of the state.

With his uncle, James Watson, he started a private bank here in 1855. About 1870 he secured control of the National bank of Lawrence county, of which he has since been president. Mr. Patterson was proud of his bank's record, and of the fact that it now stands eighth among all the national banks of the country, according to the official rating of the United States treasury department. It formerly stood seventh, but mergers among some of the larger financial institutions of New York caused the Patterson bank to drop back one point.

Mr. Patterson was born in this county October 26, 1824, his father being a farmer. As a boy he secured a common school education and at the age of 16 years came here and secured a position in a general store. With three years' experience he went to Pittsburgh and was employed in retail drygoods stores there until 1852 when he returned here and was engaged in the drug business on wholesale lines.

Makes First Banking Venture.

Another three years caused him to make another change. He had accumulated considerable capital and interested Attorney D. B. Kurtz and others in a banking institution he founded in 1855. It prospered from the first. Later he secured control of the National bank. Mr. Patterson was twice married and is survived by his second wife. His first bride was Miss Anna Mills of this city. His present wife was Miss Harriet Woodworth. Three children of each union survive. Mrs. Edward King, Miss Anna



William Patterson.

Patterson and Rufus C. Patterson, Mrs. Julia Quinn, William Patterson, Jr., and George L. Patterson, all of this city.

With the late Alexander Crawford, who died worth probably $12,000,000, and the late Robert W. Cunningham, Mr. Patterson began the manufacture of wire nails here, some 20 years ago. A string of industries followed; first a wire plant, then a rod mill, and finally the Shenango Valley steel plant. He also assisted in the erection of the Shenango tin plant, the largest of its kind in the world.

Mr. Patterson for many years operated extensive coal mines in Mercer and Beaver counties and had large iron ore interests. In fact, he was financially interested in almost every manufacturing industry of this city, and his fortune is estimated conservatively at over $2,000,000. A close personal and political friend of the late United States Senator Matthew S. Quay, he exerted a strong influence on political matters, although this was done in a quiet and unobtrusive way.

Founded a Great Hospital.

It was through his influence that the Shenango Valley hospital was established here by the state, and he remained its president until the time of his death. He was also an officer and director in more than 20 manufacturing and other corporations. He was a member of Masonic lodge No. 243 Free and Accepted Masons, and of Delta Chapter, No. 170 Royal Arch Masons, of this city. No man has done more to advance the commercial and material interests of this city than William Patterson, and grief over his death is general and deep. He attempted to retire from business some six years ago, but returned to his desk and retained active supervision of his varied interests until attacked by appendicitis late in June. He was on speaking terms with almost every man, woman and child in the city, while farmers for miles around made it a habit to drive to town to consult him upon affairs of importance to them.

CRAWFORD MAKES CHARGES, BUT REFUSES TO TESTIFY

James Webster, charged with assault and battery; Wash Welsh, with larceny, and Ellsworth Massey and Richard Anderson with keeping a gambling house, were discharged by Alderman Anderson yesterday afternoon. F. H. Crawford, who made the information, refused to testify at the hearing Tuesday and it was adjourned until yesterday, when he again refused to prosecute them. Crawford alleged he visited the Washington club conducted by these men at 68 Fulton street, on Saturday night, and during a game of "crap" the trouble arose which led to the information.

SUB-STATIONS FOR ALLEGHENY

Postmaster General at Washington Approves John Francies' Plan for Better Mail Service.

MORE AND FASTER DELIVERIES

Postmaster John Francies of Allegheny has secured concessions from the postal department at Washington that insure improved facilities in the handling and delivery of mail throughout the city and will assist materially in relieving the cramped conditions under which postal employes and carriers now operate in the North Side postoffice.

Two important sub-stations, or carriers' sub-stations, as they will be called, are to be opened. The Woods Run station will be in the vicinity of Beaver avenue and Greenwood street, and that in the eastern district within a short distance of Ohio and Chestnut streets. The mail for thousands of persons that now is handled at the main office will go through these additional stations. Time will be saved and deliveries will be made oftener and quicker than at present.

From the postal authorities at Washington Mr. Francies has received word that the recommendation for these stations has been approved and it will be merely a question of time until they are installed. Inspector E. N. Norris, who was detailed here several weeks ago to make an investigation of postal conditions, following Mr. Francies' request for improvements, has been ordered back to go over the ground with Mr. Francies and arrange all details necessary before the stations can be opened. He is expected here within a few days and will start at once with the Allegheny postmaster to arrange all the preliminaries.

Impressed the Department.

The approval given the appeal of Mr. Francies is highly pleasing to the latter. Soon after taking office last spring he wrote to the postmaster general urging the necessity of greater facilities for handling mails on the North Side. He supplemented his communications with a trip to Washington, where he explained thoroughly the demand for some improvements in the Allegheny office. He succeeded in having Inspector Norris sent here to make an investigation. Mr. Norris was soon persuaded that the main office in Allegheny was about half as big as it should be. He watched the postal employes at work at busy times, when heavy train mails were brought in, and declared promptly that more room was needed. His recommendation for two carrier sub-stations was taken to the postoffice department and filed with Mr. Francies' application. Since then the matter has been under advisement, and only yesterday the result was made known.

Postmaster Francies went to Chicago yesterday, where he will visit the big postoffice there and confer with the postmaster. He will be back Saturday and expects to bring with him some ideas that can be put into operation in Allegheny for the betterment of the service.

Superintendent W. B. Copeland of mails and carriers was asked yesterday about the changes that are to be made. He says no delay will follow the granting of the additional facilities to Allegheny and before the first of the coming year the two big stations will be in working order.

Many Details to Arrange.

Considerable detail must be surmounted before the new order of things can be inaugurated. The formality of making application for additional clerks must be gone through, and this will consume some time. The division of the mails brought from trains is another problem that must be solved. The permission of the department for the employment of three additional clerks at each station will have to be obtained and a vast amount of printed matter with which to equip them must be ordered and delivered. At the Woods Run station 12 carriers will report and at the upper station 13 will be used.

When the plans have been completed 25 carriers who at present work under adverse conditions at the main office will be removed to the other stations. This will give more room at the main office and permit a faster distribution of the mails. The base of delivery will be brought closer to the localities affected, and much time will be saved by cutting down the long trips now made by carriers who report from the main office and have deliveries in both ends of the city.

Money order and registry departments will be part of the new equipment. This will be of advantage to the public, as it will bring these departments closer to the homes and business houses not centrally located and not within quick traveling distance of the main office. Sites for the new stations have not yet been chosen and will not be until Inspector Norris arrives.

ALLEGHENY CITY SURVEYS COMMITTEE TAKES ACTION

The sub-committee on surveys of Allegheny councils met yesterday and viewed the grounds affected by a number of ordinances pending. These measures were recommended favorably: Ordinances establishing the grades of Goe avenue, from the Brighton road to Cleveland avenue; Gittens street, from McFarland street to Wheeler avenue; McFarland street, from Gettens street to Locust street; naming an unnamed street in the Eleventh ward "Gettens" street. These ordinances were recommended negatively: Relocating Reserve street, from Williams street to Stayton street; changing the grades of Seibert street, from Shady avenue to Geyers line, and Merton street, from Duquesne avenue to Wabash avenue.

Hathaway Must See Moke.

Frank Hathaway, who was arrested and given a hearing before Magistrate Moke on a charge of conducting a pool room where wagers were made on horse races, called on Superintendent Wallace yesterday to learn what will be done with the case. Moke heard the testimony over a week ago, but has not yet announced his decision. It is alleged the pool room was conducted in the building at 347 Fifth avenue. Wallace informed Hathaway the decision in the matter is up to Moke.

NEW CLAIRTON MILL READY DECEMBER 1

Carnegie Steel Company's Enterprise Will Have Daily Capacity of 800 Tons.

Detailed plans for the new structural mill to be erected by the Carnegie Steel Company at Clairton have been completed. The company will, as usual, do its own erecting, and plans to have the mill ready for service by December 1.

The mill will have a daily capacity of 800 tons of beams, channels and angles. Today's issue of the Iron Trade Review contains a full description of the equipment for the mill. The main building, located at the north end of the billet yard, will be of steel and brick construction and 60 by 288 feet in size. It will have a lean-to 13 feet 10 inches by 128 feet behind the furnaces, and a 26 by 80 lean-to for the accommodation of the engines. The hot-bed building will be 83 feet 9 inches by 352 feet. In all the buildings the lowest part of the roof will be 50 feet 2 inches from the ground.

There will be three continuous coal-fired billet heating furnaces with a capacity of 300 tons each per 24 hours. In the mill proper there will be three stands of rolls, two of them three-high and one two-high, with a finishing stand. In the first stand there will be five passes with three in the second and one in the finishing.

The mill will roll beams and channels from 6 to 10 inches and angles from three inches up. It will have ample cooling beds, shearing and shipping facilities.

Ties Money to His Leg.

Oliver Shannon, a negro, was arrested yesterday by County Detectives Sonnefeld and Reed, charged with the theft of $126 from K. E. Algeo, a farmer of Mt. Lebanon, for whom he worked. When searched the $126 was found tied around Shannon's left leg.

Our New Autumn Hats for Women.

Of course, the Summer hat must soon be laid away. Fashion says so. It is too early to buy a heavy Winter hat, so you'll naturally do the next best thing—turn to hats that are becomingly trimmed and expressly gotten up for early Autumn wear—inexpensive but impressive hats, we mean.

We have a special assortment of trimmed Turbans, Sailors, Large Hats, Toques and Walking Hats, in taffeta, silk, maline, chiffon and braid, also some small felt Turbans.

The foreging are between-season modes, and will be appreciated as such. As for colors any preference can be easily met.

The specially low price is $5.00.

New Suits for Girls and Young Ladies.

An especially pleasing collection of school suits that will impress the young people—suits that abound in Autumn style and are withal the very best that can be bought for the money.

Girls' new Russian Dresses of wool cloth, both side and box pleats, trimmed with fancy braids and hand-embroidery—blue, brown and red cheviot—sizes 4 to 14 years—price range, $6.50, $7.50, $8.50, $12.50.

Young Ladies' Walking Skirts, box pleated and side pleated, also circular styles, in mannish mixtures and plain blue, brown, gray and black cheviot, broadcloth and panama—lengths 35 to 39 inches—ranging in price from $5.00 up to $18.50.

Two-piece Suits for young ladies—semi-fitted, loose back, box back with belt, three-quarter and seven-eighths lengths, also short blouse styles—mannish mixtures, fancy plaids and plain blue, brown, green and black—sizes 14, 16, 18—$12.50, $13.50, $16.50 and up to $75.00.

A distinguished collection of young ladies' three-quarter length Coats in plaids, fancy mixtures, gray, brown and blue—sizes 14, 16, 18 years—$9.00, $11.50, $12.00, $16.00 and up to $42.00.

Women's Autumn Skirts, $5.00.

Today we place on sale a collection of women's separate skirts that are worth $10.00 and up to $16.50. Choice will be $5.00.

The styles are correct, the skirts are well modeled, the finishes, such as tucks and pleats and straps, are all that could be desired.

The fabrics are mohairs, both plain and checked, in black, blue and brown, panamas in blue and brown serges in black and blue, voiles in white and tan, and pretty cloths in gray mixtures.

Whoever buys one of these skirts for $5.00 buys something full of style and very much below its value.

Women's Shower Coats, $10.00.

They are worth $15.00 to $25.00.

In these practical coats there is not that close attention to accurate style that there is in dress coats. And there shouldn't be. There is a vast difference between a coat in which to brave the weather, and a coat in which to advance in Fashion's favor.

These coats turn water like rubber, and the woman who buys one for $10.00 gets a garment she wouldn't part with for twice ten, were no others around.

Olives and tans and oxfords in a number of different styles. All sizes.

New Autumn Woolens for Run-About Wear.

For school dresses there are no woolens so admirable, either as to texture or inexpensiveness. For suit or odd skirt they are admirable. All as fresh as can be, just off the looms. A brief description:

Neat checks and fine stripes, broken plaids, box checks, in fetching color combinations, plain storm serges, fine French serges, in wide range of plain colors, silk and wool plaids, exquisite colors, bright, cheerful effects for children's dresses, all at the low Autumn price of 45c a yard.

50-inch all wool Panama Cloth, even, firm weave, all staple colors—myrtle green, golden brown, navy, royal blue and black—75c a yard.

Gray Suiting, the charming color that will be in the lead this Autumn, the cloth of a fine, firm texture, especially adapted for the long coat suit—a brilliant exhibit in light, medium and dark shades of gray, both in plain and granite weaves, as well as neat checks, overplaids and broken stripes—48 and 50-inch widths—$1.25 to $2.00 a yard.

Fancy Needlework—Inexpensive.

Before going into detail we desire to give notice to women that Art Needlework Classes are now being formed, all under the direction of Miss Koch, of Fredericia, Denmark, who is recognized as a noted authority on lace and embroidery work. Full information by applying to this dep. ent, third floor, West.

Thursday, August 31, 1905.

A statement has been made by David Martin, state insurance commissioner, affecting the alleged fraudulent registrations in Philadelphia. It is worthy of particular attention. Mr. Martin speaks deliberately. He is too well known to be charged with ignorance on the subject of which he speaks. If there is any man in Philadelphia who knows, it is Mr. Martin. As to the truth of what he says there will be verification or contradiction in the assessment of next week. Mr. Martin would hardly venture a prediction at this time, knowing it could be successfully contradicted so soon. And it is as he says: An assessor who would falsify his return at this time, under existing conditions, would be a fit candidate for a lunatic asylum.

Commissioners of Norway and Sweden to negotiate articles of separation will meet today. There is no longer any apprehension of conflict between these states, but the spectacle of peaceful dissolution of the union of two states is so unique as to compel attention. The reserve process has often been accomplished by the means here employed, but never the separation of united powers.

It is a trifle disheartening to learn that just as yellow fever has been brought under control in New Orleans, cases have appeared in Vicksburg, Miss., and Pensacola, Fla. It is highly probable the Vicksburg infection has been disseminated from New Orleans; that at Pensacola may have come directly from Central America. Obviously if an epidemic throughout the south is to be prevented next year it will be necessary to make vigorous war against the stegomyia mosquito over a wide territory and to take other precautions.

According to an article in the Philadelphia Ledger, the announcement of a "free-for-all" convention of the City party is a mere pretense. A prominent worker in the party is quoted as saying: "I certainly shall oppose any such convention, and I believe that when it is held there will be a slate and that it will be nominated without much difficulty." Of course there will be a slate and it will be nominated, or the City party will disintegrate. The men who are paying the freight will have their ticket named or know the reason why. Reform in Philadelphia is not of the spontaneous variety.

No exception can be taken to the offer of at least one fender inventor who desires to have a test made of his device. He agrees it shall save 85 per cent of the persons struck by it, or to forfeit the price of the equipment. He agrees to stand before his own fender and be picked up. His fender is in use in at least three cities, including Kansas City, the topography of which resembles Pittsburgh. In the face of such a proposition, based on extended experience, what does Director Moore's repeated declaration that no fender is any good, sound like? This fender is a good one and there are others.

Morocco's sultan has defied France with a positive refusal to release Bouzain, the French-Algerian. It may be expected France will not hesitate long about the execution of its threat to break diplomatic relations and invade Morocco. Beyond that the situation is less clear. The sultan of Morocco must believe he will have the support of Germany, but there is reason to believe he is mistaken. When he discovers that fact it is an open question whether he will discreetly surrender, or fanatically try conclusions with the military power of France. In either event he is likely to forfeit his supremacy in his own domain.

No robbery of the South Side is involved in tapping the big main to give water to the Twentieth ward, for the present. It is simply an exemplification of the shiftiness of the water bureau in adopting expedients to cover the absence of a fixed policy for water improvement. Other provision should have been made in an orderly way for an adequate supply to the Twentieth ward, as it will have to be made when the big main is needed to carry water to the South Side. Such provision was not made simply because the administration was trying to make it appear the city business is not being conducted extravagantly as well as incompetently.

A good many charges have been made against policemen and officials in the police bureau since the present regime began. None worse, however, than that lodged against an East End patrolman, of attacking a defenseless woman on the street. If the man is guilty a mere discharge from the force is not adequate punishment for his crime. It is not the first case tending to destroy confidence in the police or to make the public more afraid of its supposed protectors than of the ordinary lawbreaker. The cause can be found in the wholesale discharge of public servants from political and personal motives and the filling of the places with untried men, many of them vicious. It is a feature of the incompetence or worse of the administration of public affairs.

Mr. Plummer's Speech.

J. Lee Plummer's address at Williams Grove to the State Grange is worth noting. He told the assembled farmers some things they ought not to forget. There are in Pennsylvania some persons who persistently villify their great state and its institutions. Mr. Plummer is not one of these. He is on the other side. He is a Pennsylvanian who believes in Pennsylvania and in Pennsylvania's greatness. He has reason for the faith that is in him, and he pointed out to his hearers some of the notable achievements of Republican government in this state and in the nation.

There is not a state in the union, said Mr. Plummer, where taxation and the burden of government rests as lightly upon the people as in Pennsylvania. He explained why this is so, and he came naturally to the conclusion that Pennsylvania has the best system of taxation in the world, where the cost of state government is paid almost exclusively by corporations which enjoy valuable privileges granted by the state. He did not say, but left the inference, that municipalities are neglecting their opportunities to lighten the burden of direct taxation by similar means.

Mr. Plummer has taken part in framing recent legislation along the familiar lines that have made this a favored state in the union. He has performed the duty well. In asking the suffrage of his fellow citizens Mr. Plummer has no odds to ask of any man. He is a good citizen, and one who has lent his efforts to the upbuilding of Pennsylvania and its interests. He is one not afraid to raise his voice in praise of the grand old commonwealth and in opposition to its traducers.

Pittsburgh's Traffic.

Orders for 5,000 additional steel cars, placed by the Pennsylvania, is significant of the traffic prospects of this region. This road's orders for equipment for 1905-6 aggregate about $30,000,000. Other roads in the Pittsburgh region have been ordering in about the same proportion. These orders have to do mainly with future traffic.

Meantime the traffic of the present is worth while. The tonnage moved in this district since January 1 already exceeds the total for last year, and the volume is growing. The year is estimated to reach at least 125,000,000 tons. These figures are almost incomprehensible, but they mean much to traffic managers. To railroad superintendents they bring the vision of hundreds of locomotives in action and thousands of loaded cars—trains trailing over miles and miles of steel highway.

Pittsburgh has long been recognized as the greatest tonnage producer in the world. Its freights have surpassed those of New York and London combined. They are mounting higher. There is no longer any comparison between Pittsburgh and any one other center of industry in the tons of material and product handled.

A Pother Over Nothing.

A great ado is being made over the ritual of the Presbyterian church which provides that the woman at the bridal altar shall promise to not only love and honor her husband, but "obey" him. Of course, this is a solemn obligation, but the critics have gone astray in condemning the form, the text of which is, "obey him according to the ordinance of God in the holy bond of marriage." There should be no difficulty in taking that vow, because no man who is worthy of the name of husband will ask anything of a wife that she cannot consistently acquiesce in. If there is not this "community of interest," to borrow a very pat phrase, then there should be no vows. Marriage—that is, happy marriage—is built solely on mutual confidence. Without this desideratum the whole fabric of society and home would be dissipated by the first ill wind that blew.

The blushing bride need not think she is giving up any of her cherished prerogatives when she promises to obey. If the marriage is grounded on that affection that ought to inspire every marital union, it is the husband that obeys, not the wife. And the true wife will not beguile her husband into doing anything but what is for the betterment of both. In the end it is always the husband who obeys, although he took no such obligation, and when he doesn't obey he does wrong, and the wife is wronged.

An Ill-Considered Movement.

It is amazing in these days of advanced science and the improvements that are almost daily being made to lighten the burden of labor by machinery that a movement should originate in New York, inspired by bricklayers and masons, against the increased use of concrete in building. The argument advanced by the officials of the bricklayers' and masons' unions is that if the use of concrete becomes universal the members of those organizations will die of starvation.

The argument will not weigh against progress. Many years ago horseshoes and nails were made by hand, but the introduction of machinery has not decreased the occupation of the blacksmith. In every locality the village smithy still stands under "the spreading chestnut tree." The invention of the nail machine increased rather than decreased the number of employed hands. Brick and mortar will still be used. The bricklayer and stonemason will find enough work in their line to keep them busy.

With the discovery of natural gas it was predicted the manufacture of artificial gas would cease. The contrary has proved true. Every new discovery has its compensations. None can be destroyed by human dictum, although it may be foolishly opposed by false reasoning for awhile. In this world every tub must stand on its own bottom. When it cannot it is useless.

After the War Is Over.

It is probable the peace of Portsmouth will shatter the Chinese boycott, since there is already a loud demand from Niuchwang for merchandise. The rehabilitation of Manchuria will make brisk trade, temporarily, at least. There will be demands on America from Japan and Russia in the repair of the waste of war, and probably beyond that larger demands incidental to quickening development. In Japan there will be almost certainly a great increase of productive powers, and it must be expected that country will soon become a formidable competitor in many lines, with American products, on the continent of Asia.

If the lesson of the war has been rightly learned by Russia there will be a tremendous development in that empire. The war was brought on by the Russian policy of grasping for new domains while its own territory remained undeveloped in semi-barbarism. If Russia is capable of learning it will turn to the policy of Sergius Witte—that of peace and internal improvement. It will give to its discontented people occupation, the opportunity to achieve comfort and more liberal institutions. Along that path Russia has untold possibilities, greatness, renewed power.

Whether or not there is to be any secret payment to Japan, there can be no question Russia will be in need of money. The expenses of the war have been great. Of course money can and will be borrowed on bonds, but the bonds must be met in time. The best way to replenish the Russian treasury and to assure the needed income will be for the government to grant concessions for the development of the natural resources of the country. With proper guarantees—preferably a constitutional government, including inviolability of contract—foreign capital would be glad to enter Russia.

In any event the old Russia can never be restored. Its military prestige has been shattered; its weaknesses have been exposed; the power of the autocracy no longer awes its own subjects. To attempt to continue the old system will mean a diminishing Russia. To have an advancing Russia involves abandonment of the old exclusiveness and popular education. Absolutism cannot exist co-equal with education and material progress. It seems that Russia must adopt the progressive course, and that if it does there must come again the old friendship between that country and this, with an ever increasing trade exchange. In America have been perfected the accessories for conquering the wilderness; for converting the plains into fertile farms. Nowhere else can the machinery be obtained that will be needed for Russia's evolution, and it is reasonable to expect American capital, American engineering practice and American energy to engage in the work.

Wheeling is "all torn up" over the discovery that some of the milk dispensed there is doctored with a poisonous preservative, the identical fluid used for embalming a corpse. As Wheeling is by no means a dead town the indignation aroused over the efforts of the milkman to bring her to a moribund condition is quite within reasonable bounds.

There should be no delay about investigating the charges of assault upon a woman lodged against an East End policeman—and no tender mercy shown the offender either if the charges prove true.

One of the striking characteristics of modern diplomacy is shown in the fact that both Russia and Japan can figure out how the war has resulted in a glorious victory.

Another woman has been fined for whipping her husband. If this thing isn't stopped the men will have to organize a society for their own protection.

Russia will get back her interned warships. It will depend upon the skill of the divers how much of the other kind she recovers.

According to Conductor Walter Damrosch "ragtime" is included in the bad habits that human beings are likely to contract.

West Homestead police raided a poker game and broke up a jack pot containing 27 cents. Talk about Frenzied Finance!

Will some one please inform us at this critical period in international affairs where Richard Harding Davis comes in?

Having lost its job the peace dove may now resort to the magazines, and later take a whirl at vaudeville.

With the cessation of war the automobile stands now almost alone as the great destroyer of human life.

The Russian army list of "also rans" is a long and unpronounceable one.

Oyama and Linevitch can now pack up their playthings and go home.

The oyster has a fall opening coming his way tomorrow.

All the music of the spheres,
Our senses sweetly wooing,
Isn't in it with the warble
Of the peace dove gently cooing.

A PREACHMENT BY THE QUIET OBSERVER

Relating to School Directors, Teachers, Instructors, Parents and Pupils.

By ERASMUS WILSON.

It takes quite a lot of people to make a school more than one would suspect. The old-time school was made up of master and scholar. Now it is superintendent, principal, teacher and pupil.

The most essential element of this compound is the pupil. The teacher may not think so, nor the principal, while the superintendent feels and thinks he knows that he is the king bee, and without him there could be no success.

* * *

The school director just "chaws on" while these are asserting their importance. And he can afford to "chaw on," for not one of these great factors, save the pupil, could or would exist without him.

What good is a teachers' certificate without having a bunch of directors on your side? And who makes and unmakes principals? And by whose grace does the superintendent live, move and draw his salary?

It is well enough for the teacher to think she is "it," and for the principal to know in his own mind that he is "it," but the fact remains that the director is boss.

Is it any wonder that he stalks about and through, the school muttering inwardly to himself, "I am monarch of all I survey?"

* * *

From whence the school director? Was he born such, or ordained of heaven?

In very fact he is merely an agent of the people to act for them in the matter of conducting the schools, it being more convenient to have one than many on a school board.

He is, therefore, a convenience, an agent, and liable to be ousted at almost any time.

So, after all, none of the factors can boast of having a cinch, unless it is the parent, for it is he who makes the director, who makes the principal and the teacher.

If anyone is "it," the parent must be the one, for he seems to have the making of all the others.

However, the director is a most potent factor in the school, whether the school is a success or a failure.

* * *

There are many good and useful directors, and there are others. It would not be reasonable to expect all to be good, no more than to suspect that all are bad.

It is the indifferent director who is the greatest failure and who does least for the school over which he has been given oversight. Being neither good nor bad, hot nor cold, fast nor slow, he is practically useless, if not a positive nuisance.

These times demand men who do things, and wherever you find men of this type you will always find something doing. The doings may not please you, but there is something doing, which is better than idleness and indifference.

If a director's doings don't suit the people, they have the right to protest, and finally the sovereign right to retire him from office.

It is the fault of the people if there are any chumps on the school board; so don't blame the chumps, but the people who elected them.

* * *

It is a question whether the old-fashioned director is worth while or not—certainly not if he has not kept pace with the times. He was all right in the days of the log school house, and when reading, 'riting and 'rithmetic constituted the curriculum, but things are different now.

These old timers are rather narrow concerning education. They seem to believe that schools are for teaching books and not for forming character. They went to school to learn how to read, to write and to cypher, and they can't see what more their children should learn.

To talk to them about converting school house grounds into gardens and teaching children how to grow flowers, is to throw them into fits.

And then the new man is liable to be too brash, or too easy, so that when the book agent comes along he is apt to fall in with him and make a lot of trouble.

* * *

Common sense is the very best kind of sense for a school director, for he has to act mainly with the common people, and to work for the common good. If he is successful in his business, and in rearing his family, he may be relied upon as a director, for there's nothing that succeeds like success.

It is good to get a crank on the board sometimes, and particularly when a board has gotten into ruts and grooves. It seems to be the mission of the crank to break up monotonous conditions.

Naturally the crank has to be a fighter, for fogies and mossbacks are rather stiff and hard to move except in their well-worn ruts. It may take him a while to do it, but a lively and determined crank, one that courts opposition, will get there sooner or later. If nothing else, he will break up the old board and give the people a chance to select a new one.

No, don't kill the cranks, for they are the advance agents of progress and prosperity.

* * *

It is a great pity that the average county school director is content to allow the school house and grounds to be, and to remain, the dreariest spot in the township.

The average man ought to know that such surroundings will nullify much of the effort put forth by the best of teachers.

In some places the people, and even school directors, turn up their noses and curl their lips at the mention of culture. This is because they don't know what it is, but think it is something that comes from Boston and is only fit for uppish people, and not for the common herd.

The people need to be taught better, and made to see that culture is the very thing they need—something they need even more than knowledge concerning some of the things taught in schools.

* * *

If county directors will encourage the pupils in their several districts to beautify the school grounds by planting shrubbery and flowers, they will soon find an unusual interest taken in school, not only by pupils but by parents, uncles, cousins and aunts.

Dreary, weed-grown, uninviting homes will follow suit, so that in a comparatively short time the home will become so attractive, and so pleasant that the country boy and girl will not be so strongly tempted to leave it for an uncertain life in the city.

School gardening properly conducted will do more to advance culture, to elevate moral tone, and to improve character, than any course of book study that has ever been devised. It is nature study of the profitable sort, and cannot fail to be wholesome and helpful.

THE MAKING OF MAN.

As the insect from the rock
Takes the color of its wing;
As the boulder from the shock
Of the ocean's plythmic swing
Makes itself a perfect form,
Learns a calmer front to raise;
As the shell, enameled warm
With the prism's mystic rays,
Praises wind and wave that make
All its chambers fair and strong;
As the mighty poets take
Grief and pain to build their song;
Even so for every soul,
Whatsoe'er its lot may be—
Building, as the heavens roll,
Something large and strong and free—
Things that hurt and things that mar
Shape the man for perfect praise;
Shock and strain and ruin are
Friendlier than the smiling days.

ELLIS ISLAND IS TO BE ABANDONED

Government Looking for a Better Site—Girl Tramps Are Arrested.

By FRANK A. PARKER.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—Hundreds of thousands of persons will hear with a direct personal interest that the government is even considering the abolition of Ellis Island as an immigrant station. Few spots in America have a greater sentimental, or, for that matter, practical interest than the bit of an island in the north shadow of the statue of Liberty. It cannot be said at present that the government has gone any further than considering, although there is gossip of more substantial steps. The talk is that the present buildings on Ellis Island may be devoted to hospital purposes, and a site obtained for a new immigrant station on the shore of New Jersey. It is reported that agents of the department of commerce and labor have been, for weeks, looking for a satisfactory site. This could not be verified today, but a government official, who is in a position to hear of such activity, said:

"It is a well known fact that the leading depot at Ellis Island has been a failure from its inception. The frame structure destroyed by fire in 1897 was replaced by the present main building of brick, and, since the latter was finished, thousands of dollars have been spent in an effort to make it suitable for the purpose for which it was intended. The building itself is inadequate. The island is an out-of-the-way place for properly handling the thousands of immigrants arriving each month.

New Yorkers Miss the Eclipse.

New Yorkers were unable to see the partial eclipse this morning, as the sky was heavily overcast with gray clouds. The sun rose at 5:24, and at 5:43 the first limb of the moon moved over the edge of it. Had the weather been favorable, residents of this city would have been able to see 90 per cent of the solar surface obscured. There are few New Yorkers who could have regarded even this partial eclipse with the naked eye, but with a clear sky a little smoked glass or an old photographic negative would have made an observation possible. All over the city enthusiasts rose at an early hour, hoping to witness the phenomenon, but the haze doomed them to disappointment.

Gotham Grows in Value.

The report of the department of taxes and assessments for the quarter ending June 30, 1905, submitted to the mayor this morning, shows the aggregate assessed valuation of taxable real and personal estate in the five boroughs constituting the city of New York to be $5,912,144,227, a net increase of more than $271,601,576 over 1904. In the total assessed valuation of taxable real estate for 1905 there is shown a net increase of $206,117,522.

No Records Broken in August.

The widespread belief that both heat and rainfall records had been broken this month was corrected today by Forcaster Emery of the weather bureau. The rainfall, while it has apparently been heavy, was only 5.09 inches for the month, including this morning's downfall. This is 5.33 behind the records made in August, 1875. The few hot days have been offset in the average by the cool nights that prevailed during the early part of the month.

Because They Slept in the Park.

Margaret Wister, aged 20, and her sister Annie, three years her junior, who said that they had no home, were arraigned before Magistrate Baker in the Morrisania police court this morning on charges of disorderly conduct. Margaret was sent to the House of the Good Shepherd for three years, while her sister was committed to the custody of an aunt. The girls were arrested yesterday afternoon in Cedar park, the Bronx. The girls got tired of working, quit their jobs and began sleeping in the parks.

Policeman Takes to Water.

After a chase of half a dozen blocks early this morning, Patrolman Healey plunged into the East river after Edward Brown, whom he was pursuing, and who had missed his attempt to jump aboard the ferryboat Pearlem. Brown missed the deck of the boat by a few inches and fell into the water. Healey, uniform, club and all, plunged in after him. Healey finally captured and subdued him, and took him back to the slip. Brown is accused of stealing a roll of $100 in bills from James Egan while the man was dozing on his doorstep this morning.

"Buster Brown," a Cosmopolite.

Richard F. Outcault, creator of the now famous "Buster Brown," returned to America on the Finland, August 23, after a summer spent in Europe. "The popularity of 'Buster' on the other side made me feel more at home in cities like London, Paris, Berlin and Vienna than on any previous trip," said Mr. Outcault. "The little chap's name seemed as familiar in even the small cities as it is in New York, and on registering at the most remote hotels I was several times greeted with remarks like 'Sh, Monsieur Outcault, how is Bustaire Brown?'"

BIRTH STATISTICS ARE LEAST TRUSTWORTHY

Census Bureau to Institute Reform to Determine the Race Suicide Question.

By L. W. STRAYER.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 30.—Officials of the census bureau are taking steps to gather accurate statistics which will determine whether or not race suicide is being perpetrated in this country. It has been demonstrated that, of all the statistics gathered by the bureau, the least reliable are those referring to births. These statistics are the most useful of all for purposes of gauging important social tendencies and, therefore, an endeavor will be made to have them more accurate than they have been heretofore.

With this object in view the census bureau is trying to have laws passed by each of the separate states which will have the effect of securing accurate birth statistics. Such laws have been drafted and have been passed in Pennsylvania, Iowa and some other states. Still other commonwealths are expected to take action in the near future. Massachusetts, Connecticut and Rhode Island at present have the most effective laws for gathering birth statistics and, while it is impossible to secure the adoption of a uniform law by all the states, an effort will be made to approach this result as nearly as possible.

Birth and Death Rate.

Whether the birth rate of this country is increasing or decreasing cannot be told. That the population is increasing is well known, and it is equally established that the death rate is decreasing. In fact, the death rate of this country is the lowest of all civilized countries. By reason of the constantly diminishing death rate the birth rate keeps well in advance. Whether the birth rate is increasing is only a matter of guess work to those who know most about the census vital statistics.

The census is taken every ten years. In cities the enumeration is made in 15 days; in the country, 30 days. It has proven absolutely impossible to devise a system by which in such a short time complete and accurate information can be secured. So the census bureau has come to the conclusion that, for such statistics, it must depend upon the efforts of the states and cities.

Record of Births Unsatisfactory.

Deaths are reported with approximate accuracy because almost everywhere there are effective laws that compel securing a death certificate before a funeral can be held. Likewise marriages are pretty accurately reported, because marriage licenses must be procured before the ceremony can be performed. But as to births, there is often no satisfactory or effective method of securing information. As a result, cities that are growing at a rapid rate will frequently report a death rate twice as high as the birth rate. This is obviously wrong, and the officials reporting births usually explain that their figures are incomplete and worthless.

Recently there has been animated inquiry as to whether the birth rate of the country, as a whole, has increased since President Roosevelt undertook to popularize babies. No small aggregate of testimony has been put together which indicates that more babies are being born than used to come into the world; but there are no vital statistics worth mentioning to prove or disprove it. The utmost interest is taken by the census bureau and many persons in everything calculated to shed light on this question.

Will Make Better Showing.

Whether the birth rate is increasing is very doubtful. It has been falling steadily from decade to decade, according to the best statistics at hand; but it is confidently believed that the 1900-1910 decade will show, if not a slight increase, at any rate a smaller decrease than previously. Meanwhile the death rate per one thousand population has shown marvelous reduction. Better sanitation, better medicine, better surgery, better food and greater intelligence have contributed to it. The result is that the death rate in the United States is only about two-thirds as high as the most fortunate European countries. From 1890 to 1900 the number of native born inhabitants rose from 52,000,000 to 63,000,000, or almost 21 per cent in ten years. It is apparent, therefore, that whether the birth rate is decreasing or not, the margin between births and deaths is safely on the side of the preservation of the species.

THE CONQUEST OF PEACE.

Japan's recession from the points in issue at Portsmouth has insured peace. The latest comer in the ranks of the great powers has demonstrated that it can not only fight bravely and successfully against a larger nation, but that it can meet the requirements of the higher civilization in the adjustment following the fighting. Japan has, in short, taught the world a lesson in both military prowess and statesmanship.—Washington Star.

Other controversies may arise and troubles come. But at present all may be thankful for the return of peace, for which Russia above all other nations should be grateful.—Buffalo Courier.

The peace is a personal triumph for President Roosevelt, who has worked constantly and with infinite tact and energy to bring the war to a close.—Brooklyn Times.

The president could not be discouraged. His indomitable pluck fought for humanity and the progress of civilization. He kept the faith of his high aspirations. He has his reward in the praise and honor of the world.—Cleveland Leader.

That both combatants made concessions in order to secure the peace so eagerly desired by the civilized world is to their credit. In reference to the matter of indemnity, however, it had to be considered that while Russia had met with serious reverses she was not in the position of a conquered nation.—New York Herald.

President Roosevelt in the peace assured yesterday at Portsmouth, has won a great personal triumph and achieved a service to humanity vouchsafed to no man in our day.—Philadelphia Press.

It is peace. Japan, victorious on sea and land, is magnanimous in the end to a beaten foe. She yields more than even the most ardent advocate of the cessation of hostilities had a right to expect.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

The peace concluded at Portsmouth will be better than a prolongation of the war, and that, whatever may be thought of some of its detailed terms, it will, on the whole, be a good, a just, an honorable and a reasonable peace.—New York Tribune.

Japan comes out of the struggle with all the honor and all the glory. It was hers to win and do; to show her greatest courage at the crucial moment and prove her right to enter into full fellowship with the civilized peoples of the earth.—Philadelphia Ledger.

There is to be peace in the far east; Russia and Japan have agreed upon the terms. Whose the victory? If Japan had gone to war merely to humble Russia, what more could she have accomplished?—Philadelphia Record.

Among the Mutable Many.

Tom Johnson indicates a purpose to take the stump in the Ohio campaign this year. He is also set down as in favor of the nomination of William J. Bryan for president. As the nomination for president will not occur for about three years, perhaps Tom's campaign and Bryan's candidacy can be kept from being mixed at this early date. We cannot tell "who will" will disappear from politics, and perhaps from the face of the earth, by 1908.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

STORIES FOUND IN THE LOBBIE

Interesting Gossip Picked Up in Pittsburgh Hotels and Stations.

D. E. Spangler, superintendent of transportation of the Norfolk & Western railway, came into Pittsburgh last night and registered at the Seventh Avenue hotel. This is Mr. Spangler's first visit to Pittsburgh, although he has passed through here a number of times. He had not seen enough of the city last evening to appreciate it, and will take a look about town today with Commercial Agent S. S. Bridgers, who represents the N. & W. traffic interests here. Mr. Spangler says that his visit here has no particular significance in reference to company matters. Speaking of Alexander Kearney, who is now assistant general superintendent of motive power of the Norfolk & Western at Roanoke, but who was located in Pittsburgh several years as superintendent of motive power of the Pittsburgh system of the Baltimore & Ohio road, Mr. Spangler said that Mr. Kearney is appreciated by the N. & W. people for the ability he has shown in his department.

Dr. Moffat Home from Winona.

The Rev. Dr. J. D. Moffat, president of Washington and Jefferson college, at Washington, Pa., arrived in Pittsburgh last evening from a stay of a couple of weeks at Winona Lake, Ind., where he lectured before the Winona summer assembly. He left later in the evening for his home in Washington, where he will remain a week or so, and will then take a trip to Texas, returning home in time for the opening of the college year. Dr. Moffat said the Washington and Jefferson faculty will have three new members this year, all being men of high qualifications for their respective lines of teaching. Prof. Arthur Hayes will teach Greek, Prof. English will have charge of the Latin department and Prof. H. G. Wright will have the desk of chemistry for one year during the leave of absence granted to the regular incumbent.

Denver Travel Surprises.

It was expected the Denver travel would be heavy out of Pittsburgh on account of the large number of veterans who are going to the Grand Army encampment. Posts 48 and 182 having left in a special train as the first delegation from here last evening. But it was not expected that a special train would have to be run to accommodate the travel outside of the veteran circle. This was found necessary, however, and last evening a second section of train No. 13 was run to accommodate those who are taking advantage of the extremely low fares. Among those on this train were a number of veterans who are traveling to Denver independently of the post special parties.

Just a Personal Note.

Robert Callahan, Jr., manager of the Metropolitan hotel at Washington, D. C., and secretary of the Metropolitan Hotel Company, is spending a couple of days here visiting his old-time friend, Joseph F. Turpert, assistant general passenger agent of the Baltimore & Ohio.

The Rev. Dr. J. H. Linns of Palmyer, W. Va., formerly of this city, but now secretary of the board of home missions of the Methodist Protestant church, passed through Pittsburgh last evening en route to Adrian, Mich.

The Rev. Dr. F. H. Donelson returned to Pittsburgh from an eastern vacation sojourn.

James E. Roderick, chief of the department of mines of Pennsylvania, is at the Duquesne.

Walter Damrosch still holds to his old love in the hotel line and is consequently living at the Lincoln during his engagement at the Pittsburgh exposition.

W. H. Joyce, night clerk at the Colonial, packed up his grip, said "So good" to his fellow clerks and his drummer friends, and filed himself to Canada yesterday evening for a jaunt of a couple of weeks.

Only a Question of Law.

One of the courts in Ohio has rendered a decision that the conditions exacted by Andrew Carnegie in his library proposition cannot be complied with under the laws of Ohio. In every instance Mr. Carnegie has required that the municipality to which he makes the contributions shall agree to furnish a certain sum each year to support the library. The Ohio court takes the ground that as a law of the state requires that the money must be in the treasury when the contract is made this pledge, or contract, cannot be made, as it extends for an indefinite time and is for amounts of money not now available. The question is naturally going to the supreme court for final determination. If the lower court is sustained it will have a wide effect, as many other states have laws similar to those of Ohio.—Philadelphia Press.

Politicians Still Stands.

I ain't a politician, so help me God, I ain't.—The Hon. Benjamin Ryan Tillman, Senator Tillman is a careless quoter. In a letter written the other day he gave this version of Pope's well known couplet: "About forms of law let fools contest; that law which is best administered is best." The correct version of the pious denial given above is this:

"I ain't a politician, an' why should I be?
I ain't a politician, I'm just a little shrimp."

STORM OF CHEERS FOR ROOSEVELT

Fourteen Hundred Teachers Wildly Applaud the Name of the Great Peace Maker.

THEN ALL SING "AMERICA."

The Allegheny County Teachers' institute, now holding its fifty-fifth annual session at the Third ward school, Allegheny, not only reached its high tide in attendance yesterday, but in enthusiasm and patriotism also. During the hour preceding the regular session very many subjects were discussed, as a matter of course, since the assembly consisted of 1,200 women and only 200 men, but uppermost in interest was the peace agreement made at Portsmouth yesterday. It eclipsed the eclipse itself, which otherwise would have been a topic of much interest, and in the buzz of voices could be heard the name of Roosevelt on every side, and "none named him but to praise."

The president would undoubtedly have been "delighted" could he have witnessed the scene when allusion was made to the peace and his strenuous endeavors to bring it about, and if he had been present he would have been welcomed by the school-mistresses with open arms, literally as well as figuratively speaking. The institute fairly bubbled over with patriotic enthusiasm and "America" was never before sung with more pride and vim. The teachers gave Portsmouth a place upon the map along with Ghent, where a famous peace was negotiated, and assigned the president a place with Adams, Jefferson, Franklin and Albert Gallatin as a peace diplomat.

An interesting fact was developed by one of the literary or bluestocking "marms," namely, that Portsmouth is only very thinly disguised as Rivermouth in Thomas Bailey Aldrich's charming volume "Marjorie Daw and Other People," one of the short stories in which is the famous "Rivermouth Romance." Some of the characteristic features of the old New Hampshire town are set forth from personal knowledge by the author, who once lived there.

Congratulations on Peace.

After singing "Lead, Kindly Light," and that other favorite of the late president, "Nearer, My God, to Thee," Dr. Stetson conducted the devotional exercises, which showed that the teachers could repeat the twenty-third psalm without a book and do it devoutly, too.

Dr. Stetson was the first speaker. He incidentally congratulated the teachers, as well as all mankind, upon the happily successful peace negotiations and upon the glorious part this country and its president had taken. The allusion brought out a storm of patriotic applause, followed by the singing of "America" by a chorus of 1,500. The strenuous man of the White House was voted the most popular man in the country and the most justly conspicuous personality in all the world.

Dr. Stetson's theme was "Some Essentials" and he dwelt upon a number of matters deemed essentially valuable for the young teacher to remember.

"Carry your head among the stars if you can," he said, "but don't forget that it is supremely essential to always have your feet upon the ground. Somebody has said that we are a nation of obedient parents, because too many fond parents are practically subservient to the demands of their spoiled children."

He also pointed out that it is essential for the teacher to pay much attention to the rude, coarse, ill-mannered, neglected boy, as well as the little gentlemen who come from cultured homes. Too many people are inclined to sit down upon the coattails of progress and cry "Whoa!" They have an ever-present tendency to find fault, to criticise, to throw cold water and to make themselves a generally disagreeable nuisance.

The intermission was followed by the singing of the "Suwanee River," under direction of Prof. W. L. Gibson, when Supt. Hamilton introduced Prof. W. N. Hull of Youngstown, O., as one of the founders of the great state normal school of the Tenth district at California, who has been engaged in educational work for over 40 years.

Prof. Hull gave a short "chalk talk," which was quite well received by all of the teachers, some of whom remember him as an instructor in drawing in local schools many years ago. The speaker was warmly applauded.

Importance of Observation.

Supt. Coughlin spoke on "How to Study." He said while it was a good thing to teach by illustration or symbols, it was not wise to teach the illustrations for themselves merely. He emphasized the great importance of observation, comparison and analysis. The child should be trained to study with the least waste of time and effort possible to produce desired results and to focalize effort upon the real thing. The child's energy is often wasted because the teacher has failed to impart proper instruction upon the technical phraseology of the subject. The technical terms are the tools with which the pupil works, but if he is not familiar with the meaning of these words he will be greatly handicapped in his efforts.

The afternoon session was opened with a vocal solo, "Sing On," by Miss Edith Allison of Wilkinsburg, accompanied by Prof. W. B. Hampson on the piano. It was sweetly rendered in charmingly unaffected style and received such an emphatic encore that the soloist was obliged to respond with a pretty Scotch ballad, "The Hame is Where the Heather Blooms."

Dr. W. W. Stetson's theme was "Reading an Unprinted Page." The way one wears his clothes, his expression of countenance, his walk, his tone of voice, etc., are forms of expression and mediums for the communication of thought as well as words and the vocal organs. Dr. Stetson's talk was something very unique and was illustrated by means of a number of large engravings and photographs mounted upon an easel placed upon a table on the stage that all might see. From each picture an interesting story was drawn, a reading from an unprinted page. The last picture shown, "Christ in the Temple," portrayed a striking story and attracted much attention.

Word of Superlative Scorn.

In this lecture Dr. Stetson sprang a term entirely new to the vocabulary of most of the teachers—"fuddy-duddy," which, he said, in Yankeeland is a term of superlative contempt and scorn when no other word happens to be strong enough.

Supt. Coughlin closed his engagement with a characteristic address on "Mistakes in Teaching." He knew something about the subject, he said, because he had made mistakes himself. The teachers, however, were glad to receive advice and counsel based on his long and varied experience, and at the close he received a storm of applause.

At today's session Chancellor S. B. McCormick of the Western University of Pennsylvania, will speak on "The Teacher and His World," and Dr. Stetson on "Lessons the South May Teach Us." In the afternoon the school directors of the county will be the guests of the institute and Will Carleton, author of "Farm Ballads," will give readings from that and others of his writings. The entertainment will be free to the public.

FIND CANOEIST'S BODY AT CONWAY

Claire P. St. John's Body Is Taken from River and Sent to the Family Home.

13 MEET VIOLENT DEATHS

The body of Claire P. St. John, who was drowned while trying to go through the bear trap at Merriman dam in the Ohio river in a canoe at midnight Saturday, was recovered yesterday by Jacob Stahl and John A. Fairman, who discovered the body at 9 a. m. floating in the river near Conway.

John H. Adams, the young man's uncle, who came here when he learned of the death of his nephew and who has been searching for the body, was on the river in a skiff and was searching in the vicinity of where the body was found. Dr. Edward H. Small, St. John's granduncle, was notified and went to Conway and arranged with an undertaker to prepare the body for shipment to the young man's home in Brooklyn, N. Y. The body was taken east on the 10 p. m. train by Dr. Small and Mr. Adams.

St. John, F. A. Servis and C. J. Hendrickson were electrical students and lived in Turtle Creek. On Saturday they started on a canoe trip to Wheeling, W. Va. St. John's companions were rescued by crews of two towboats when their canoe capsized.

Coroner Will Investigate.

Investigation into the death of Thomas H. Bates, aged 4, of 815 Washington avenue, Braddock, who died July 31, and was buried under the belief that he had died of summer complaint and spasms, has developed the child died as a result of eating popcorn, which also made a neighbor's child, Samuel Higgs, with whom the Bates boy shared his popcorn, ill. An insurance company having a policy on the boy's life started an investigation before paying the insurance and the discovery was made and the coroner started an investigation which will result in the body being disinterred and an inquest held.

George Nick, a telephone lineman, was killed by falling through a railroad bridge near Oakmont Tuesday night. Nick was walking the track with two companions and one fell and called for help. In trying to save him Nick lost his balance and fell through the bridge, fracturing his skull.

John Sullivan of Bessemer called at the morgue yesterday and identified the body of the man who was killed at the city filtration plant on Tuesday as that of his son, Thomas Sullivan. Sullivan was aged 30, single, and lived at 2536 Forbes street.

Michael Siarco, aged 22, of Thirty-third and Nash streets, was crushed to death early yesterday morning while working at the South Side plant of the Jones & Laughlin Steel Company.

Because James McCraven, a craneman at the American bridge works at Ambridge, has ignored the summons of the coroner to appear at the inquest into the death of Elmer Hamilton, a craneman at the same works last Thursday, the hearing in the case is held up and the coroner threatens to employ serious measures to bring McCraven to time. It is alleged by James C. Hamilton, a repair machinist at the works, that his son before his death, stated McCraven went to Hamilton's home unsolicited and started it, with the result that the young man, who was working on top of the crane, was fatally crushed.

Many Meet Death.

Hoovier Virva, aged 25, a laborer at the Schoen Pressed Steel Car plant in McKees Rocks, was killed at 5:10 o'clock last evening while at work. Virva was employed at the shears and while a new pair of knives were being tested a small piece of steel flew from the shears and stuck him in the stomach and entered the intestines. He was single and lived at 28 Ella street, McKees Rocks.

John Banna, aged 36, of 11 Freeport street, Etna, died last evening at the Allegheny General hospital of injuries received by being struck by Millvale and Etna car 459 in Butler plank road near Etna. His skull was fractured and one leg was crushed.

Joseph Keating, aged 12, of 2041 Lytle street, Hazelwood, was drowned while bathing in the Monongahela river at the foot of Cortland street, Hazelwood. His body was recovered.

Pauline Fried, aged 5, who was scalded in the yard in the rear of her home, 1404 Carson street, South Side, Tuesday afternoon, died last evening at the South Side hospital. The child's mother had placed a kettle of boiling water in the yard and the child fell into it backward.

While sitting on the porch at his home last evening William Cuthbert, aged 63, a carpenter of Mill street, Tarentum, died suddenly of heart disease. He was a widower.

Otto Prozier, aged 17, of 5137 Berlin alley, was struck by a traction car in Plummer street, near Forty-seventh street, yesterday morning and died of his injuries while being taken to a hospital in the traction emergency wagon.

Mine inspector S. W. Cunningham last night reported to the morgue that a miner was killed by a fall of slate in the Duquesne mine of the New York and Cleveland Gas Coal Company mine near Wilkinsburg.

STEER RUNS AMUCK.

McKeesport Residents Have Exciting Time Before the Maddened Animal Is Killed.

Residents of Riverview park, McKeesport, were terrorized by a maddened steer yesterday. It put a police lieutenant to flight and attacked a street car full of passengers. It was finally killed by a rifle bullet and dressed on the spot.

The steer broke out of the abattoir of the Peters Packing Company early yesterday morning, and made its way to Riverview park, about half a mile distant. Police Lieutenant R. L. Rodkey was going down Jenny Lind street when he encountered the bull. He made his escape. Andrew Brookmiller, a well-known baseball twirler, made an effort to capture the steer by lassoing it, but after missing several casts, was put to flight.

Residents came out with revolvers and knives and two shots fired only increased the bull's ire. Finally employes of the packing company arrived and a rifle ball killed the animal.

MR. BONAPARTE IS HARSH IN FINDING

Says Bennington Lacked Discipline and Orders Court-Martial for Commander.

MACHINERY IN BAD CONDITION

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30.—Secretary Bonaparte in his action today upon the findings of the court of inquiry in the case of the Bennington explosion severely arraigns some officers of the vessel for failure to look after the safety valves, orders Commander Lucien Young before a court-martial to clear himself of the charge of neglect of official duty; directs the court-martial of Ensign Wade on the charge of "neglect of duty," and disapproves the court of inquiry's finding that the Bennington was "in an excellent state of discipline and in good and efficient condition." The finding says:

The department approves the several findings of fact by the court of inquiry with the exception of so much thereof as is in the words following:

"That (on July 19, 1905) the ship was in an excellent state of discipline and in a good, efficient condition, with the exception of her boilers, which were in fair condition and efficient, considering their age (about 14 years) and the use to which they had been subjected."

The department does not consider this particular finding sustained by the evidence; the proof tends strongly to show that the enlisted force of the engineering division had been permitted to fall into habits of laxity and inattention in the discharge of their duties, and that at least some of this force were also imperfectly instructed regarding their duties.

In view of the department the evidence establishes further that certain appurtenances, to-wit: The safety and sentinel valves of at least one of the boilers were not in an efficient condition on the date mentioned and had not been in such condition for a considerable time previously, and in the judgment of the department this evidence renders the statements that the ship was in a "good and efficient condition," and that her boilers were in "fair condition and efficient" appropriate to the facts disclosed by the proof.

The foregoing provisions of the regulations, and the facts disclosed by the report of the court of inquiry and by the testimony and exhibits thereto attached, make it the duty of the department to require Commander Lucien Young, United States navy, to clear himself, before a general court-martial, of the charge of neglect of his official duty above indicated. Such court-martial is, therefore, ordered, and the judge advocate general will prepare charges and specifications in accordance with the views of the department hereinabove expressed.

Notwithstanding the severe loss sustained by the ship's complement and the suddenness and terrible consequences of the accident, discipline was fully maintained; all the officers seem to have discharged their duties with entire presence of mind, intelligence and courage; the crippled vessel was handled judiciously and skillfully, and survivors of the crew showed bravery and humanity in the rescue of their unfortunate shipmates worthy of the honorable traditions of our service. The department notes with pleasure these redeeming features of an appalling and also discreditable disaster.

ECLIPSE OF THE SUN.

Hundreds of Residents of This Locality Witness Phenomena.

Hundreds of residents in this vicinity cut short their slumbers yesterday morning and arose before 6 o'clock to witness the eclipse of the sun. Despite the cloudy condition of the atmosphere, little difficulty was experienced in viewing the phenomena. The thick atmosphere made the use of smoked glasses unnecessary, and with the naked eye those interested gazed at the sun as the shadow of the moon crept across it.

At 5:45 the sun rose and on the upper edge was obscured by the shadow that between that time and 7:28, when it had passed, traversed the distance across the orb. At its best the eclipse cut off two-thirds of the sun's rays. In totality it was viewed in some parts of the middle northwest and in Spain and Arabia, where many scientists traveled to study it. Director Frank Schlesinger and his assistant, R. H. Curtis, viewed it from the Allegheny observatory, but said it was of no importance from a scientific standpoint in this locality.

MILK DEALERS' LICENSES.

Hundreds Being Taken Out Every Day at the Bureau of Health.

Milk dealers' licenses are being issued at the bureau of health to the number of several hundred each day. Thre are 2600 milk dealers in the city, counting the retail stores, wholesalers and dairies, all of whom are required to renew their license to sell on or before September 1 each year. After that date they are liable to a fine of $10 to $25 for failure to comply with the law, which went into effect in May, 1901. For some unexplained reason it was not enforced in this city until last year, when quite a number of suits had to be brought before the law was complied with.

Notices were sent out a few days ago to all the dealers, since when they have been making application for the license at the rate of 300 a day.

The American public used over three million last year. Give immediate relief — do not affect the heart. At all Druggists.

"our girls"

Extract from an article in Harper's Bazar—which every mother who will send a daughter to school—the daughter also—should read

"So many girls are getting ready, just at this season, for school and college, that it seems only fair that they should have much of our attention this month. The following valuable hints are given to Bazar girls by a woman who is at the head of one of the largest women's colleges. The list of clothes was made with great care and finally revised after consultation with 'four sensible girls of moderate means,' seniors at the same college.

"This list of clothes needed by a girl supposes that she will return home for her Easter vacation. If that is not to be the case, she should add to this list two or three Wash Suits for recitation purposes and a Spring Jacket. One good Sunday Suit with Silk Waist to match or its equivalent; a Shirt-Waist of Panama cloth, brilliantine, or something of that nature; a separate woolen Skirt, walking length; a separate woolen Skirt, really short; a couple of White Pique or Duck Skirts; one dress, rather light in color, silk or voile to be worn at Sunday dinners, 'teas,' etc.; a White Silk Shirt-Waist and a Flannel Waist; three or four White Shirt-Waists, most of them rather thick; one evening dress; a warm Wrapper and a Kimono; a heavy winter coat, a Raincoat, a Sweater or its equivalent. As to Hats she will need a 'best' and a 'second-best' Hat, with a Tam-o'Shanter for ordinary wear. A pair of Arctics or Rubber Boots is necessary; walking and dancing Shoes; Kid Gloves for street and evening, with woolen Gloves for ordinary winter wear. At northern colleges Furs are very generally worn. This covers essentials; it is desirable, however, to have an Evening Coat. Girls who do not have one sometimes use their Raincoat with a white silk protection jacket under it. It is also well for a girl to bring any pretty summer dresses, such as Organdies and Grenadines, that she may happen to have. Of course, it is necessary to have a gymnasium Suit and Shoes.

"As for underclothing, it should be new and of the best quality but plain. A girl with the novelty of college life on her will have little time to mend, and her underclothing should be new, and strong enough to resist severe laundry treatment. It should be plain, as in most college laundries an extra charge is made for elaborate pieces."

This store wishes to call attention to a splendid showing of everything a School Girl should take away with her and at prices quite advantageous to the pocketbooks of the parents.

TROLLEY CARS TO SEE SIGHTS

Public Is Anxious to Have the Pitsburgh Railways Company Resume Service.

WAITING MURPHY'S DECISION

Seeing Greater Pittsburgh from the seat in a street car was made possible last fall by the Pittsburgh Railways Company. There is a public demand for a repetition of this opportunity. Every day the people want to know when the cars are to be put into service. No definite information can be got until John Murphy, general superintendent of the company, returns from his vacation.

Last fall the company put on three lines of cars to be used exclusively by the people who desired to see the sights of Greater Pittsburgh. One route was through the manufacturing district, passing through Homestead, Braddock, East Pittsburgh, Wilmerding and McKeesport. This trip was made for 50 cents. One 25-cent ride carried sightseers through the residential district of Pittsburgh, and the other through Allegheny, Bellevue and Avalon.

The cars were running during the Exposition season, and were well patronized by visitors to the city, and by many people who lived in the Greater Pittsburgh district. It was expected the cars would be put into service early this summer. There has not been a day since the warm weather set in that inquiries have not been made about these pleasure trips. There are hundreds of people in Pittsburgh who do not know much about the things to be seen in Allegheny county, and they expected to traverse all of the routes this summer. For some reason the Pittsburgh Railways Company has not offered the opportunity.

Many merchants who have country patrons in the city have wanted to use the sightseeing cars as a means of entertainment for their customers. The Merchants and Manufacturers' association has seen the possibilities of the trolley ride and it has been urging the street railway company to resume.

In most of the cities of the country the trolley companies have seen the possibilities of the sightseeing car. While it may not be a big money maker in dollars and cents, it at least serves as a means of promoting a better feeling toward the traction corporations on the part of the public.

The Street Railways Journal for last week had a leading editorial on the sightseeing car. It suggests there is even no necessity for putting these cars in the barn in the winter. With electric footwarmers and passengers tucked in beneath buffalo robes, the Journal thinks a ride in an open car will force the sleigh to the barn.

RELIEF FOR EAST END; SOUTH SIDE MUST WAIT

Water Committee Drops Negotiations for Purchase of the Monongahela Plant.

Superintendent Morris Knowles of the filtration bureau said yesterday that the South Side would not suffer by the tapping of the big South Side main to give temporary relief to the Twentieth ward, which is short of water. He said that by the time the filtration plant is completed and the new main can be used by the South Side, there will be an arrangement of the supply system and the South Side would have the exclusive service of the 50-inch line.

"By the time the South Side is ready to use the main the East End wards will be supplied in another way," said Mr. Knowles.

Superintendent Knowles' statement was called forth by the resentment of South Siders to the tapping of the main to help out the East End.

The special council committee appointed a couple of months ago to negotiate for the purchase of the South Side water plant has done nothing. The committee held one meeting and asked the Monongahela Water Company, the owner of the South Side plant, to set a date for a meeting with the committee to consider the sale of the plant to the city. The officials of the company set a date for a joint meeting, as requested, and then the council committee discovered that it was not ready to meet them. The excuse was made by the commitie that it wished first to consult Mayor Hays, but during the entire summer the committee has not seen the mayor nor has any effort been made to discuss the matter, either with the mayor or the water company.

John F. Semmelrock, who is advocating the purchase of the South Side plant, says the administration will renew negotiations in September. It is stated that the administration, on the eve of the county election, will again promise a water supply to the South Side to get votes in that section.

Will Open New Mine Next Week.

Handsomely engraved invitations have been issued by the Carnegie Coal Company for the opening of the company's new mine at Oakdale on the Panhandle railroad next Wednesday afternoon. The officers of the company are Robert P. Burgan, president and general manager; George M. Hosack, vice president; Joel T. M. Stoneroad, secretary and treasurer; Jesse W. Sanford, director, and George W. Kline, superintendent of construction.

B. & O. to Build Reservoir.

CONNELLSVILLE, PA., Aug. 30.—(Special.)—Profiting by the example of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company in providing against further trouble during droughts by piping the waters of Indian creek to the Pittsburgh division, the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Company will build an immense storage reservoir along its Connellsville division.

MARRIAGE LICENSES.

The following marriage licenses were issued yesterday:

Samuel Patterson, Bertha Dow; John Housman, Emma M. Volk; Fred A. Popal, Zella E. Kennedy; John Glass, Dolly Risling, all of Pittsburgh.

Fred Kuder, Bessie Rohm; Andrew Knorr, Emma Will; Charles H. McGregor, Louise D. Lougbead, all of Allegheny.

Thomas Shew and Mary Stribling, McKeesport.

Charles F. Stewart, Pittsburgh, and Minnie M. Decker, Turtle Creek; Mason W. Rogers, Wellsville, O., and Sarah Cooper, Pittsburgh; Jacob Mequillan, Pittsburgh, and Jeanette Patterson, East Pittsburgh; Harry O. Phillips, Vandergrift, and Florence M. Knight, McKeesport; Fred Fleckenstein, McKeesport, and Catherine Ehlers, Pittsburgh; Robert A. Porter, Pittsburgh, and Pearl E. Jewell, Greensburg.

Another Triumph.

For several years there has been an intense but friendly rivalry among the leading department stores of the two cities for the most attractive exhibit on the opening night of the Exposition.

Last year Boggs & Buhl of Allegheny were generally accorded the winners, not by official notice, but the consensus of public opinion.

At that time the exhibit which attracted such universal commendation both hereabouts and among decorators in other cities, was a reproduction of the then just completed statue of James H. Anderson, erected and donated to the city of Allegheny by Andrew Carnegie, in remembrance of the help the Literary Blackamiths's Library had been to Carnegie during his boyhood. This was done in white Linen, Napkins being used by the thousands.

This year the exhibit is on entirely different lines, but even more artistic. A large morning glory as a centerpiece, is surrounded by American Beauty Roses. From the center of the Flower appears a fairy throwing out sunbeams. Nearby appears a beautiful maiden who is apparently out in the dawning morning enjoying nature's matutinal glories. She has just reached forth and is plucking an American Beauty Rose from a vase. Here and there are artistically placed other flowers, sweet peas, etc., in all the splendor of their natural thts. All these are made of Ribbons and several thousand yards of fine pure silk Ribbons were required to achieve the desired results.

This exhibit was the cynosure of all last night and immediately won favorable comments from everyone who saw it.

FARMERS' PROSPERITY COMES BY THE REPUBLICAN PARTY

J. Lee Plummer, the Candidate for State Treasurer, Tells Grangers the Burdens of Government Are Light in Pennsylvania.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

HARRISBURG, Aug. 30.—J. Lee Plummer, the Republican nominee for state treasurer, in an eloquent address at the Grangers' picnic at Williams grove today, demonstrated clearly by facts and figures how greatly the agricultural interests of Pennsylvania have been benefited by the Republican party. Mr. Plummer showed how, through the improvement of the roads and the establishment of the rural free postal delivery service alone, the Pennsylvania farmer has been placed in close touch with the open market and has been enabled to dispose quickly of each successive crop.

He called attention to the remarkable prosperity of the state today and compared it with conditions that prevailed 40 years ago, when the Republican party came into power, confronted by an indebtedness of $40,000,000 which the Democratic party had saddled upon the state. He referred to the wiping out of this vast debt by the Republican party through a "wise, honest and economical administration of affairs," the reduction of taxes and the present surplus in the state treasury.

Mr. Plummer pledged himself to a "clean, honest administration of the state treasury department" if elected. He was given an enthusiastic greeting by the great multitude when he arrived at the grove. With him were William F. Hill of Chambersburg, master of the Pennsylvania State Grange; George G. Hutchinson of the state agricultural department, and Frank J. Roth, secretary to the house committee of which Mr. Plummer was chairman at the last session.

The great assembly hall was crowded with representative Grangers and farmers from all over the state to hear Mr. Plummer's speech. His remarks were frequently interrupted with long applause, especially his declaration that "there is no state in the union, no country in the world, where the burden of government rests as lightly on the people as the government of Pennsylvania." Continuing, Mr. Plummer said:

> Did it ever strike you, or did you ever consider, that real estate in Pennsylvania is not taxed for the support of the state government? In other words, did you ever consider that no person in Pennsylvania pays a state tax on real estate? This is true. When you go home look up your tax receipts and you will find that the taxes you pay on your farm are road tax, county tax and school tax, all local taxes.
>
> Unless you have money at interest, you pay nothing toward the support of the government of your state, and if you have money at interest, three-fourths of the tax upon it is returned to the county to relieve you in your county tax. The government of the state of Pennsylvania is supported almost wholly by taxes on corporations.
>
> I believe, gentlemen, that we have the best revenue system in the world. Pennsylvania is all right. When the Republican party came into power in Pennsylvania the state was $40,000,000 in debt. Now, under the wise, honest and economical administration of affairs by the party, this great debt has all been paid. Taxes have been reduced and there is a large surplus in the state treasury.

William H. Berry, the Democratic-Prohibition candidate for state treasurer, will speak at the picnic tomorrow. He will be chaperoned by a committee of Cumberland and Dauphin county Democrats.

NEWS OF NEARBY TOWNS AND COUNTRY

KILL WATCHMAN FOR MONEY.

Trusted Employe of the Pennsylvania Murderously Assaulted and Robbed of Large Sum.

ALTOONA, PA., Aug. 30.—(Special.)—Cancaroe Petrocelli, a trusted watchman employed for several years at the Juniata scales of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, about two miles east of here, was murderously assaulted and robbed of $700 in cash, at an early hour this morning. He was found in an unconscious condition between two coal yard tracks near the scales, by a trackwalker.

He was removed to the local hospital and died from the effects of his injuries shortly after 1 o'clock this afternoon. An examination of the ground revealed that a struggle had occurred, and near where the victim lay was found a revolver, and from its battered appearance, the weapon was used to crush the unfortunate man's skull.

Man Falls from Sand Tipple.

CONNELLSVILLE, Aug. 30.—(Special.)—Andrew Guiler, aged 64 years, one of Connellsville's most prominent residents, was perhaps fatally injured yesterday by falling a distance of 30 feet from the sand tipple of the Guiler and Kendall Sand Company at Perryopolis. He was directing the placing of some heavy timber on the top of the tipple when he slipped and fell to the ground. He was brought to his home here today.

Two Deaths at Beaver Falls.

BEAVER FALLS, PA., Aug. 30.—(Special.)—One of the oldest and best known citizens of this place, John Blazer, died at his home here last night. He was born in Germany and came to this country a number of years ago. Three sons and one daughter survive him. Mrs. Virginia Clark Gardner, wife of Prof. M. T. Knight, died at her home here this afternoon after a painful illness of three months. She is survived by her husband and two daughters.

Presbytery to Have Outing.

NEW CASTLE, PA., Aug. 30.—(Special.)—The first annual outing of the Beaver Valley Presbytery of the United Presbyterian church will be held at Cascade park, this city, tomorrow, and a large attendance is expected. There will be athletic sports during the morning for the younger people and an interesting program has been arranged for the afternoon.

Thief Works Smooth Game.

WASHINGTON, PA., Aug. 30.—(Special.)—Michael Friend, a resident of West Middleton, was robbed last night of $100 by a smooth-tongued individual whom he had befriended. The two met by chance on Saturday and after retiring Sunday night the friend arose, ransacked the house, securing the $100 and escaping. He overlooked a pocketbook containing $650.

Officials Nip Plan in Bud.

BELLEFONTAINE, O., Aug. 30.—(Special.)—Three train dispatchers of the Big Four system were discharged today because it is alleged that an organized effort was being made to form the dispatchers into "a petition in boots" to ask for annual vacations. The movement had only fairly started and the officials took immediate steps to upset the plan.

Small Fire at Conneaut Lake.

MEADVILLE, PA., Aug. 30.—(Special.)—A gasoline engine used to run the moving pictures in the electric theater at Conneaut lake exploded this afternoon and set fire to the building. The structure was saved, but about $1,500 worth of films were destroyed. No person was hurt.

NEW CITIZENS PARTY HOLDS ITS CONVENTION

GREENSBURG, PA., Aug. 30.—(Special.)—Twenty taxpayers of Westmoreland county answered the call of the recently organized Citizens' party for a convention here today. Two sessions had been arranged but that of the morning was abandoned. Several nominees on the Democratic and Prohibition ticket who had promised to be present and be fusion candidates, failed to appear and no ticket was nominated. City Clerk John E. Gable of Pittsburgh made the speech of the afternoon. The movement is not regarded seriously by the Republican or Democratic county leaders.

Captured After Long Freedom.

MEYERSDALE, Aug. 30.—(Special.)—John Adams, who escaped from the reform school at Morganza in June, 1903, was recaptured here yesterday and taken back to the school by Constable John P. Swindell. He made an effort to escape from the borough jail here last night, having succeeded in cutting through three thicknesses of oaken wall before he was detected by the officers.

Will Enforce Sunday Laws.

IRWIN, PA., Aug. 30.—(Special.)—The members of the Civic League have decided to enforce the Sunday laws against fruit stands, soda water fountains, cigar stands and all else except restaurants that furnish meals only and drug stores for the sale of medicines and the compounding of prescriptions. Officers of the borough were assured that the league will take charge of all prosecutions in cases where arrests are made.

Contractor Is Held for Accident.

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 30.—John Dyer, Jr., contractor, was arrested today and Clark L. Daggett, his superintending architect, was ordered to be placed under arrest on charges of manslaughter and criminal negligence, in connection with the collapse on August 8 of the central portion of the department store building of the John G. Myers Co., which resulted in the death of 13 and the injury of upwards of 40 others.

Ex-Clerk Again Sued.

POTTSVILLE, Aug. 30.—(Special.)—For the second time suit was brought this evening against ex-Clerk of the Courts John T. Shoener on the charge of illegally taking $7,500 in liquor license fees. Shoener was convicted of this charge two years ago but the supreme court last June set aside the verdict because no legal demand had been made for the money.

Burglars Make a Haul.

SHARON, PA., Aug. 30.—(Special.)—Burglars at Sharpsville early this morning entered the general store of Isaac Byerley and took half a dozen gold watches, a number of rings and other jewelry valued at $150. The jewelry store of A. C. Shaner was also visited and a quantity of silverware, rings and other jewelry was stolen, amounting to about $100.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 30.—A shower of rain at 3:30 this afternoon caused the postponement of the Pittsburgh-Philadelphia game. The Pirates had just landed at the grounds and were ready to begin practicing. Just as they were going on the field the rain began to pour down and the game was called off. The Premiers packed up and returned to their hotels. Then the sun came out and the rest of the day was fair.

Outfielder Wallace was given his walking papers today. He will probably return to Haverhill, Mass. Secretary Locke today received another letter from Beaumont. The red-headed outfielder said that the Mount Clemens baths were having a good effect on his rheumatism and he felt much better.

The Pirates started home tonight, President Dreyfuss accompanying his team. Outfielder Gantry of Des Moines, Ia., is expected to arrive in Pittsburgh tomorrow. He will be given a trial by the Premier management.

Boston Finally Wins One.

BOSTON, Aug. 30.—The locals broke their losing streak today, defeating Chicago 3 to 1. Fraser pitched cleverly and but for his poor throw to second Chicago would not have scored. Score:

PLAY IN THE WOMEN'S GOLF TOURNAMENT

CHICAGO, Aug. 30.—Play in the women's western golf championship at the Homewood Country club today reached the second round of match play, and Miss Annie Palmeter of Kenosha is the only player outside of Chicago who survived the first round. In the round tomorrow Mrs. A. T. Brower will meet Mrs. C. L. Deering of Midlothian. In her game today with Mrs. Driver of Riverside Mrs. Deering showed some terrific driving, winning 3 up and 7 to play. Mrs. Brower also played in a strong game, making a 95 in a strong gale, defeating Miss Elizabeth Young, 5 up and 4 to play.

Miss Ruth Steele of Homewood and Miss E. W. Towner of Exmoor are two evenly matched golfers for the second round. Miss Palmetier won her match from Miss Julia Hunt, 2 up and 1 to play, but tomorrow she will meet a more formidable antagonist in Mrs. Vernon Hall, who today eliminated Mrs. G. W. Cooper of Denver, 2 up.

Miss Frances Everett disposed of Mrs. E. C. Berriman of Edgewater, 5 up and 3 to play, and tomorrow will meet Mrs. Frances Anderson of Hinsdale.

Other results of the first round follow: Miss Ruth Steele, Homewood, defeated Mrs. H. A. Beldler, Lake Geneva, 3 up and 1 to play. Miss E. W. Towner of Exmoor defeated Miss Marjorie Bokum of Glenville, 3 up and 2 to play. Mrs. Frances Anderson of Hinsdale defeated Miss Sallie Ainslee of Westward Ho, 5 up and 4 to play.

Butler Walloped at Braddock.

Butler was beaten at Braddock yesterday, 11 to 3. Bailey made a three-bagger and a home run over the right field fence. Keller made four hits in five times up. Capt. Edmundson twisted a ligament in his left knee and had to retire from the game. Butler will play at Braddock again today. Score:

											R.	H.	E.
Braddock	1	4	0	0	2	1	2	1	*	—	11
Butler	1	0	1	0	1	0	0	0	0	—	3

Donovan Has a Park.

NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—(Special.)—Pat Donovan was on Broadway last night. He was on his way from Pittsburgh to visit his parents in Lawrence. Just now Donovan is figuring on putting an "outlaw" club in Pittsburgh. He formerly played in Pittsburgh and is popular there. He has good backing in his new venture and has already secured a park site. It is not Donovan's intention to fight the Pittsburgh National league team. The schedule would keep him on the road when the Pirates were in Pittsburgh and vice versa, according to Donovan.

Piedmont Beats Frostburg.

CUMBERLAND, MD., Aug. 30.—(Special.)—Piedmont increased its lead today by defeating Frostburg. Fay was effective, but Maddox kept up his remarkable record as a winner. Score:

BRILLIANT DEBUT OF EXPO SEASON

More Than 15,000 People Attend Opening of Big Show at the Point.

DAMROSCH IS EVER POPULAR

A wealth of beauty and patronage marked the opening last night of the seventeenth season of the Pittsburgh Exposition society.

Seemingly all roads converged at the big buildings down at the Point, and when the turnstiles ceased their revolving they told of 15,000 who passed into the gates to inaugurate another season of a most popular institution.

If a first-night audience is prophetic of what may follow, this year will surpass all that have become memories at the exposition. Despite the fact that this year the doors were thrown open a week earlier than ever before, no falling off in attendance gave demonstration of the absence from the city of thousands who have not yet brought home their trunks from the summer resorts. The crowds came early and stayed until the dying strains of the final number played by Walter Damrosch's New York Symphony orchestra, bowed out the first night of the exposition season of 1905.

Contrary to conditions existing in all past years on opening nights, there was no appearance of work half finished among the hundreds of displays in Machinery hall and the main building.

Every Display Is Complete.

It is a fact worthy of mention that every display was complete and as neat and pretty as a spinster's front parlor. No bare boards or signs of carpentry or other artisanship marred the perspective as seen from the high gallery in the main building. New exhibits and novel creations in illumination met the eyes of those who looked to see the exposition of old. Men whose vocation is the trimming and decorating of displays exhausted their art in preparation of a brilliant first night and success and appreciation were their reward. The ensemble is beautiful.

At the very doors one's eyes are lifted in surprise to the new system of lighting on the exterior of Machinery hall. Twenty-three powerful mercury lamps shedding a weird green radiance, cast their rays upon the crowds on the sidewalk and cause expressions of wonder and pleasure those whose tanned faces take on a color never seen before in a human countenance. This of itself is an introduction to the surprises that are to be seen inside.

It was apparent last night that the public of this vicinity are truly lovers of high-class music. The people came to see the Expo of course, and none neglected to promenade through the broad aisles between the handsome rows of exhibits flanking them, but almost with one accord the crowds headed straightway for the big auditorium as soon as they entered and made haste to secure seats for the concert.

Musical Pet of Pittsburgh.

The New York Symphony orchestra is one of Pittsburgh's musical pets, and always has been. To the people of Pittsburgh Walter Damrosch last night paid a tribute when he said:

> The Pittsburgh public loves the best music. They became acquainted with it some years ago, and now they demand it. A decade ago the brass band was the thing. Now it is an orchestra. Once it was popular airs and ragtime music. Now it is the grandest conceptions of the masters of music. Pittsburgh people are appreciative, and show their real love for music in the requests they send for the rendition of their favorites from the masters. Already Mr. Fitzpatrick and I have received scores of letters from Pittsburghers asking that certain musical pieces be given. This is an indication of their deep interest in high-class music.

The program last night included the overture from Wagner's "Tannhauser," and the prize song from "Die Meistersinger," by the same author. M. Adolph Schultz, recently brought from abroad by Mr. Damrosch, was heard last night for the first time in this city, when he appeared as the 'cello soloist. Monsieur George Barrare, the French flute soloist, made his initial bow to a Pittsburgh audience and was heartily received.

Director Damrosch announced that he has invited Weingartner, the famous German musical director, to visit America and conduct the New York Symphony orchestra in a tour next winter. Should the invitation be accepted, Pittsburgh will be in the itinerary.

Notable Exhibit by Newsboys.

One of the notable exhibits this season is that of the Newsboys Home, in the main building. The lads who sell papers on the streets have a display of their handiwork that shows positive genius in the gamins who live in the home up on Forbes street.

Perhaps the most interesting of the new displays is that of the Canadian government. An exhibit of the agricultural resources of the Dominion occupies the ante-room of the main building and is in charge of William H. Burns, secretary of the department of agriculture. Every species of grain and cereal cultivated on the vast plains of Canada is shown.

Among the amusements are "Fighting the Flames," a bit of realism full of excitement and instructive; the Ferris wheel; "In and Around New York," and "Creation." All are new and worthy of a visit. The chamber of commerce exhibit is in the main building and contains a vast amount of interesting and instructive data, including the big relief map of the Pittsburgh district that was at the St. Louis fair last year. The fish and game exhibit is new and interesting. Electric launches run this year on the three rivers, starting from the Exposition.

President Francis J. Torrence of the Exposition society said last night:

> This is the most auspicious opening we have ever had, and promises great success for the season. The crowd is the biggest I think I have ever seen on the first night, and it is interested both in the exhibits and the music. The management could ask for no better patronage.

H. J. HEINZ CO.'S DISPLAY.

Large Two-Story Structure With World's Fair Features.

One of the first things to catch the eye of the visitor entering the main building of the Exposition is the lofty dome of the beautiful two-story building where H. J. Heinz Company's "57 varieties" are displayed and demonstrated. For the last five years this concern has occupied the foyer of the main building, where their display was one of the principal features of the Exposition. This year they have taken a commanding position in the center of the building, where they have placed the fine large lecture building which excited so much favorable comment at the Louisiana Purchase exposition at St. Louis.

The booth occupies a space of about 40 feet square and is surrounded by three aisles. It represents a building two stories high, built very substantially and crowned by a large dome about 40 feet from the floor. The dome is gilded and is lighted by electricity, the lamps forming great illuminated ribs meeting at the top.

Within the building on the ground floor is a hall with seats for 50 people. Every half hour a lecture is given, illustrated by stereopticon views of the various factories of H. J. Heinz Company and scenes connected with the preparation of Heinz pure food products. Interspersed with these views are entertaining and amusing pictures of a general nature. Similar lectures were largely attended at the St. Louis exposition last year and again at Portland, Ore., this year, and will, no doubt, prove just as popular in Pittsburgh. The second floor is reached by a handsome brass-railed stairway and is devoted to the administrative offices of those in charge of the exhibit and a reception room especially for grocers.

The demonstration counter extends along the entire front of the building. A large corps of demonstrators in neat uniform dress is engaged in giving samples of pickles, preserves and other food products to those who call.

MRS. S. KAUFMAN GOES INTO COURT

Asks Injunction to Restrain Castle Shannon Railroad Company from Leasing Line.

SMOKE NUISANCE CASE IS UP

Mrs. Sibilla Kaufman filed a bill in equity against the Pittsburgh & Castle Shannon railroad, the Pittsburgh Railways Company and the officers of the companies, in an effort to restrain the officers of the Pittsburgh & Castle Shannon Railroad Company from executing a lease of its property to the railways company and to restrain the company and its officers from paying any money or other consideration to the Pittsburgh & Castle Shannon Railroad Company, or from taking possession of the property of the railroad company. This suit was expected after the railways company secured possession on its bid.

The bill sets forth that the proposed lease is illegal, invalid and void, and that the price offered is inadequate. It recites the negotiations leading up to the lease of the Pittsburgh & Castle Shannon Company to the Pittsburgh Railways Company, and alleges that rights of the minority stockholders are being violated and that it is the duty of the Pittsburgh Coal Company, which owns 7,709 shares out of a total of 9,628, to protect the minority interest. The bill alleges that as majority stockholders the Pittsburgh Coal Company will receive certain benefits which the other stockholders will not get and therefore the lease is illegal and against the interests of the minority stockholders.

The bill says that if the Pittsburgh & Castle Shannon Railroad Company leases its road it will be a violation of its duty and contract as a common carrier, as it will be converted into a street railway line and thus will be doing a business not authorized by its charter. It is also charged that the Pittsburgh Railways Company has no right to operate a railroad under its charter, as is proposed to be done in the hauling of coal of the Pittsburgh Coal Company.

Carries Up Smoke Fight.

The fight against the alleged nuisance created by the Junction railroad by the use of soft coal in its locomotives and the use of steam whistles for signaling purposes was revived yesterday when Mrs. Eliza Thaw Edwards took an appeal to the supreme court from the decision of common pleas court No. 2, which was in favor of the railroad. Mrs. Edwards filed the bill originally in October, 1903. She claims that the emission of clouds of black smoke from the locomotives injured her extensive property in Boundary street, between Fifth avenue and Forbes street, and that the use of the whistle to signal trains at the other end of the tunnel was detrimental to residents in the vicinity. It was alleged that these were contrary to the terms of the city ordinance accepted by the company when given a right of way. It was also asserted that for several years the railroad had been operated in strict compliance with the terms of the ordinance and that the nuisance was of recent date.

The lower court in dismissing the bill held that an ordinance of council could not make a nuisance out of that which had not previously been a nuisance, and that as the Junction railroad was operated in a manner customary with all railroads in Western Pennsylvania it was not guilty of committing a nuisance. It is from this finding that the appeal is taken. The appeal is purely formal, no reasons being given. The case will be argued at the session of the supreme court which opens here in October.

Wants Judgment Against Bishop.

A rule for judgment was filed by County Delinquent Tax Collector Robert G. Mattern against the Rt. Rev. J. F. Regis Canevin, bishop of the diocese of Pittsburgh, as trustee of St. Paul's cathedral. Mattern entered suit to recover $4,400 taxes on the mortgage placed on the cathedral at the time of the sale to H. C. Frick. The rule sets forth that there was not sufficient evidence in the affidavit of defense that the mortgage held by the defendant came within the meaning of the act of 1889, imposing the tax in question, and that the act does not exempt mortgages held by religious bodies.

Samuel Mentzer has been sued for $10,000 damages for a breach of promise by Anna Zenterler. The plaintiff is 22 years old and the defendant 23 years old. She says Mentzer made a proposal of marriage to her on or about March 14 last, and it was understood they were to be married during the summer of 1906. This month, she says, he broke off the engagement. Attorney A. C. Stein represents the plaintiff.

A decree of divorce was granted Mary A. Burgin from Harry Burgin. Mrs. Burgin, who is 22 years old, charged her husband with extreme cruelty. She said he remained out at night, upset the dinner table, broke all the dishes and threatened to leave her, causing her to beg on her knees for him not to do so. She also claimed he locked her in a pantry, kicked and beat her until the neighbors interfered. Mrs. Burgin claims that on one occasion he treated her so badly in the Allegheny market house that she fainted.

A libel of divorce was filed by Mrs. Hettie C. Jones against William C. Jones, alleging desertion. She claimed her husband left her in 1902, a year after their marriage, and has not been seen since.

Courts Observe Labor Day.

The trial list for criminal court for next week was prepared yesterday. On account of Monday being Labor day the September term of quarter sessions court will not open till Tuesday, when Judges James R. Macfarland and Marshal Brown will be on the bench. Tuesday the grand jury will be organized and charged and constables will make their quarterly returns. On Wednesday Mrs. Annie J. Mickle will be arraigned on the charge of having killed her husband, Harry Mickle, at their home in Cedar avenue, Allegheny, on the night of May 5, last. This is the only murder case on the list for next week.

A remonstrance was filed in quarter sessions court by Attorney A. H. Rowand against the transfer of the retail liquor license of Theodore Kresner of Duquesne, to Max Schwartz.

Suit for $15,000 damages was entered by Jacob Bitzer against the Philadelphia Company for the death of his wife, Barbara Bitzer.

Could Not Cash Check.

Suit was entered by the Davis Roofing Company against George O. West and George W. Wilson, late trading as West & Wilson, to recover $705 on a check drawn on the Homewood Peoples bank, and a note for $205. The plaintiff claims that when he presented the check for payment at the bank he was told that the defendants had no funds. The note, he also claims, has never been paid.

Close the Year's Work.

The joint committee of women's clubs for the support of the Allegheny summer playgrounds and vacation schools will hold its annual meeting on Tuesday, October 31. This will be the close of the first year's work of this committee, and reports will be presented covering the work accomplished in the nine playgrounds and vacation schools on the North Side this season. The election of officers will also be conducted and plans prepared for the coming year.

RED DEVIL PARADE.

Mystery of the Red Devil Solved—A Unique Parade Saturday.

For several weeks the mysterious Red Devil advertisements which have appeared in The Pittsburgh Gazette, and which have also been tacked all over Allegheny county by a big force of advertising men of the Red Devil Tobacco Co., of Cincinnati, Ohio, have caused every reader of these advertisements to wonder whether the Red Devil was a cereal, a new automobile or whether old Satan was really coming to town.

The name Red Devil has been given to a special brand of very fine smoking and chewing tobacco manufactured by the Red Devil Tobacco Co. of Cincinnati, Ohio. Saturday they will storm the town with a PARADE headed by a big brass band and a long string of Red Devils on horseback, the largest float in Pittsburgh, on which a vaudeville performance will be given in the way of acrobats, etc., and a number of unique ideas for attracting the attention of the public.

The campaign in Pittsburgh has been in charge of W. J. Wood who has made quite a record for himself all through the state of Pennsylvania for the amount of goods he sold. While Mr. Wood is considerable of a hustler, he explains his success by saying it is easy to sell tobacco when it has the merit that will be found in Red Devil Scrap.

SOCIETY

IN St. Lawrence Roman Catholic church, where one week ago she was maid of honor at her sister's wedding, Miss Mary Agnes Birmingham became the wife of Max J. Winkler yesterday morning. The Rev. Father F. L. Toner solemnized the marriage at 9 o'clock and conducted low nuptial mass. Charles Monohan sang the mass, while Mrs. John Farnarie presided at the organ. Miss Alicia Birmingham and P. M. Birmingham, sister and brother of the bride, served as maid of honor and best man, while as ushers there were John Birmingham and F. J. Schimpf. The bride was gowned in white silk eolienne, white lace hat with plumes and carried a bouquet of white roses. The maid of honor wore lavender mousseline, daintily trimmed with valenciennes lace. A white lace hat trimmed with white roses completed the toilette and a cluster of the same flowers was carried. After the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Birmingham, in Dearborn street, East End. Covers were laid for 12 at the bridal table, the guests including the bride and bridegroom, Mr. and Mrs. Birmingham, the Rev. Father Toner, P. M. Birmingham, W. J. Birmingham, John Birmingham, Miss Alicia Birmingham, Mr. and Mrs. James Murray and Richard Winkler. Among the out-of-town guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Schimpf, Mr. and Mrs. John Schimpf, Mrs. Frances Schimpf, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Gorius, Miss Glen Kelm and Charles Bentz, all of Newark, O., and Richard Winkler of New York city. Early yesterday afternoon the bridal couple left for Cambridge Springs, to remain a couple of weeks. After September 15 they will receive their friends in Mt. Vernon street, East End.

McKain-Neagley.

Owing to the recent death of the bride's father the wedding of Miss Louise Elizabeth McKain and Derr B. Neagley last evening was very quiet. The Rev. J. S. Hudson of the Beth-Eden Baptist church of Allegheny performed the ceremony at 8 o'clock at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. M. L. McKain, in Avalon. Mrs. McKain gave her daughter away, and there were but two attendants, Miss Fannie McCrea of Rochester, Pa., and George Neagley, a brother of the bridegroom. The bride wore a dainty lace-trimmed gown of white crepe meteor and carried white roses. A crescent of pearls, Mr. Neagley's gift, was her only ornament. Miss McCrae was attired in white embroidered chiffon. Her flowers were buff-colored roses, buff and white being the colors chosen for the wedding. They were carried out in the decorations by streamers and bows of ribbons, and with goldenrod and goldenglow, a touch of green being given in the feathery asparagus ferns on the chandeliers and doorways. At the conclusion of a trip to Washington, D. C., Mr. and Mrs. Neagley will receive their friends in Belvo avenue, Avalon, where at-home days for after September 15 have been announced. The bridegroom is president of the Universal Incorporating Company of this city.

Will Speak at Convention.

Mrs. Thomas C. Pears, Sr., of McPherson boulevard, East End, will leave today for Erie, where she will make an address this evening before the Erie County Sunday school convention. Mrs. Pears has chosen "The Little Child" as the subject of her address. She will attend the sessions of the convention tomorrow and expects to return to Pittsburgh on Saturday. Her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Harry C. Pears, will leave on the same day for a short visit to the latter's former home in Buffalo, N. Y.

Luncheon for Chicago Guest.

Mrs. George Shotwell of Wilkinsburg will give a luncheon on Saturday afternoon to meet Mrs. Cassius Shotwell, Sr., of Chicago. The two ladies have just returned from the western city, where Mrs. George Shotwell was a guest of the Mrs. Shotwell, Sr., who expects to remain in Wilkinsburg for a couple of weeks. Among the luncheon guests on Saturday will be Mrs. Garret of Albany, N. Y. Several other affairs of an informal nature are being planned for the visitor.

An Oakmont Social Affair.

Purple asters formed very effective decorations in the Oakmont Boat club yesterday, when Mrs. Benjamin E. Hedding entertained at cards for her house guest, Mrs. Charles E. Graff of Philadelphia. Six-hand euchre was played at 11 tables and prizes were won by Miss Benson of Virginia, Miss Page Dabney's visiting friend; Mrs. J. M. Hamilton, Miss Susan V. Tiers and Miss McIlvaine.

Home from Burt Lake.

Mrs. Joseph G. Walters and her son, Albert Guiton, returned on Wednesday evening to their home in Center avenue, Shadyside. They, with Mr. Walters and Alexander Dean, had been spending the summer at their cottage on the lake shore near Mackinac island. Mr. Walters and the elder son left Burt lake on Tuesday to go into Canada. Miss Helen Walters is at present visiting friends in Boston and will not be home for a couple of weeks.

Wertz-Fisher.

JEANNETTE, PA., Aug. 30.—(Special.)—Roscoe Fisher, a prominent young business man of this town, and Miss Ethel Wertz of Mt. Pleasant were married this evening at 8 o'clock at the residence of the bride's sister, Mrs. Ross Highberger of Harrison avenue, Greensburg. Only the immediate friends of the contracting parties were present. Mr. and Mrs. Fisher will live in Jeannette.

To Be Guest at Oil City Wedding.

Miss Mabel L. Johnson of Sherman street, Lawrenceville, left the city on Wednesday for Oil City, where she goes to attend the wedding of Miss Wealthy Carle and Dr. Charles Easton, both of that place. While in Oil City Miss Johnson will be the house guest of Miss Minnie Richardson of East Third street.

Notes of Society.

Mrs. H. D. Sellers and family of South Euclid avenue, East End, who have spent the summer at Lotus Point, N. Y., have closed their cottage at that resort and are now established in their town home.

Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Lydick returned last night from a trip to the Pacific coast, which included a visit to the fair at Portland, Ore.

Among the Clubs.

Arranging for Presidents' Day.

The first meeting of the Wimodausis club this season will be held September 12 in Syria temple, and will probably be observed as presidents' day. A meeting of the entertainment committee has been called for tomorrow afternoon by the chairman, Mrs. Reese Lindsay, when arrangements will be made for the presidents' day. On that occasion the Wimodausis club will have as its guests the presidents of the different women's clubs in Pittsburgh and Allegheny, Homestead, Wilkinsburg and other suburban towns.

Mr. and Mrs. Reese Lindsay returned to Pittsburgh on Tuesday evening, closing their cottage at Bear Run, near the Masonic Country club, where they have been spending the entire summer, with occasional short trips to the city. There has been quite a colony of Masons and their families at Bear Run. Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Evans have a cottage there, which they closed yesterday to return to Pittsburgh. The George Porters are also there, but expect to remain a while longer, while the Country clubhouse is crowded at the week-end. Several house parties, composed of members of the Wimodausis club and members of their families, were entertained at different times during the summer by Mrs. Lindsay, Mrs. Evans, Mrs. Porter and others who have been staying at Bear Run.

Allegheny Children Make Fine Display.

An immense sign, bearing the inscription, "The work of the children in the Allegheny playgrounds and summer schools," attracted a great deal of attention last night in the balcony at the east end of the main Exposition building. Within the space indicated by the sign was exhibited the industrial features of the summer vacation schools on the North Side, and deeply interested the crowd of people which passed in a ceaseless throng about the building during the intermission between the concerts. The three walls of the allotted space, which is just opposite that occupied by the Morganza Reform school, were completely covered with excellent examples of what the children did during the five weeks of school this summer. The exhibit was arranged by schools in an impartial manner, the display consisting only of those articles which were voluntarily offered by the children. They were placed in the order of the wards, the Irwin Avenue and the Sherman Avenue schools in the Second ward being first, and followed by the Chestnut Street school, Third ward; the Fifth Ward school, the Spring Garden Avenue school, Seventh ward; the Eighth ward, the Ninth ward, the East Street school, Tenth ward, and the Thirteenth Ward school. The work included that done by the art and nature classes, the sewing, millinery, basketry and the kindergarten occupation work.

The success of the vacation schools in Allegheny this summer, with the introduction of some forms of industrial and manual training work in each, is a long step in advance in the effort to secure manual training and industrial work in every public school in every ward on the North Side, is the flattering statement made by Clifford B. Connelley, formerly superintendent of manual training in the public schools of Allegheny, and now a member of the faculty of the Carnegie Technical schools.

Meet to Discuss the Public Health.

The American Public Health association will hold its 33d annual meeting in Boston, Mass., September 25 to 29. Among the subjects announced for discussion during the meeting are car sanitation, modes of dissemination and rational quarantine in epidemic, cerebro-spinal meningitis, protection against milk-borne infection and tropical hygiene. The section devoted to methods of securing more uniform instruction and co-operation in health work will discuss this need under the following heads: Education of and co-opetation with the general public, graduate and undergraduate instruction in hygiene in universities and medical colleges, special diplomas in public health, teaching of hygiene to school children, instruction of present health officials, schools and conferences for such officials with development of technical instruction for all phases of the public health, present regulations or laws as to qualifications and methods of appointment for executive and technical officials.

Corn Roast for Homestead Club Women

A meeting of the social committee of the Homestead Woman's club will be held next week to make arrangements for holding a corn roast later in the month at the West Homestead park. The corn roast will take the place of the club picnic, which was to have been held in June, but was postponed because of a breakdown in the street car transportation service for a few weeks in the borough.

Pennsylvania Poor Association Meets.

The Association of the Directors of the Poor and Charities of Pennsylvania will meet in Washington, October 17, 18 and 19. Plans are being made in that city for a very interesting convention.

NEW YORK STOCKS LOWER ALL AROUND

Wall Street Disappointed Over London's Response to the Peace News—National Fire Proofing Preferred the Weak Local Feature.

By JOHN O. BAGLIN, Financial Editor.

The New York stock market was moderately active yesterday, but the tone was heavy and prices closed lower all around. Wall street was disappointed over London's response to the peace news. English consols were higher, Russian Imperial 4s advanced 4¼ per cent in the Paris market, and Japanese bonds followed Tuesday's advance on this side, but American securities in the London market were only fractionally higher.

The selling at the opening was on a large scale, and one prominent house which has a large speculative trade was credited with selling 100,000 shares of various stocks during the first two hours. This led to extensive profit taking on the part of traders who had bought Tuesday afternoon on the expectation that foreigners would be liberal purchasers. The liquidation extended throughout the list, the only stocks to resist the tendency being the tractions, which held steady on a report that the Interborough Rapid Transit Company had obtained control of Metropolitan Securities, which, it was thought, would strengthen the guarantee on Metropolitan Street Railway. Brooklyn Rapid Transit was the only prominent stock to close at a net gain.

Reading, St. Paul and other high-priced stocks were the weakest of the railroad list, their net losses for the day averaging nearly 2 per cent. A fair recovery occurred during the early part of the afternoon, but on the rally trading became extremely dull. Toward the close the selling by traders was renewed and closing prices were at or near the lowest.

Amalgamated Copper was the weakest of the industrials. The stock was heavily sold for Boston account and declined from 87½ to 85½, closing at 85⅞. There was some support on the decline and a considerable part of the selling was ascribed to shorts. There was no change in the price of the metal.

United States Steel common declined 1 per cent and the preferred ¾ of 1 per cent, but recovered a portion of the loss and closed ½@⅝ per cent lower for the day. It was officially announced that the company had purchased 250,000 tons pig iron, and Chairman Gary also made the announcement that the price of steel rails for 1906 delivery would be maintained at $28 a ton. These announcements had a sustaining influence upon the price of the stock. The minor iron and steel stocks closed ½@1 per cent lower, but were inactive.

The call loan market ruled firmer at 2@2¼ per cent all day, and closed unchanged. The sub-treasury at New York transferred $500,000 currency to Chicago and $300,000 to New Orleans, and since last Friday the banks have lost $4,095,00 through sub-treasury operations. The total shipments through the sub-treasury to Chicago during the month closing today foot up $3,000,000, just about double the shipments for the corresponding month last year and $350,000 larger than the total shipments in August, 1901, when the wheat crop was the largest on record. Indications point to another unfavorable bank statement, and as today is the end of the month, it is not improbable that call loan rates will rule higher. New York bankers continue to express the opinion that while rates may advance to 5 or 6 per cent this fall, there will be no real stringency; but stock market operators are inclined to give more attention to the probability of higher rates and their effects upon prices.

The wheat market was active and weak, the price at Chicago reaching the low point on the crop.

The continued weakness of National Fire Proofing preferred was the feature of the local stock market. On less than 300 shares the stock sold down to 26¾, the lowest of the year, and closed at 26½ bid, 27 asked. This is by all odds the lowest price at which any of the 7 per cent preferred industrials is quoted, and as the street has come to rely upon the ticker to foreshadow coming events, the decline was regarded as the forerunner of unfavorable news. The only inference drawn from the weakness was that some hitch had occurred in the recently announced bond sale. There were no transactions in the common stock, which closed offered at 7½. The rest of the market was extremely dull, the total sales being the smallest for any full day this month. Crucible Steel common declined to 12½, while the preferred rallied to 64¾. Westinghouse Air Brake rallied to 149, an advance of a dollar a share. The only transaction in the Coal stocks was the sale of 55 shares Pittsburgh preferred at 53, an advance of ⅞ per cent. Pittsburgh Terminal Warehouse and Transfer sold at 90 and the bonds were quoted at 101 bid, 105 asked. There were no transactions in United Copper, but just before the close the price was bid up to 38¼, a new high record. Tonopah Extension sold unchanged at $5 50, and Ohio Tonopah was unchanged at 30c. Natural Gas stocks and the Brewing issues were neglected.

FEATURES OF THE DAY

IN PITTSBURGH	IN WALL STREET
Bank exchanges increased $3,300,000 for the day.	Stock market less active and prices closed lower.
Stock market the dullest for any day of the month.	Sales included 899,200 shares stock and $4,765,000 bonds.
Continued weakness of National Fire Proofing the feature.	Failure of foreign markets to respond to peace news caused profit-taking.
The preferred stock broke to 26¾, the low point of the year.	Reading and St. Paul were the weakest of the railroads.
Sharp advance in Air Brake and United Copper.	Amalgamated Copper led the decline in the industrials.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

The universal gratification expressed in financial circles at home and abroad over the conclusion of peace justified the belief that it was based upon something more substantial than sentimental grounds. The admission by M. Witte that Mr. Vanderlip of the National City bank had consulted him regarding Russia's probable needs in the event of a continuation of the war or the conclusion of peace, was accepted as evidence that the great banking houses were now anxious to loan the hoard accumulated in anticipation of a war indemnity to either Russia or Japan, or both, for the purpose of restoring the wastes of war. In Wall street quarters yesterday, however, where details should be forthcoming, it was declared that there were no new developments, and the opinion was expressed that no foreign loan was likely to be negotiated in America until after our crop requirements were known and met. Japanese bonds were strong and higher in London, but sold off in New York, and with the exception of the second series 6s, closed ½@¾ per cent lower than on Tuesday. The sales of the four classes of bonds foot up $2,831,000 out of a total of $4,800,000 for all bonds.

The Mellon National bank shows total resources of $32,180,455, the largest in its history, and the largest of any national bank in the city. The surplus fund stands at $1,100,000.

Amalgamated Copper declined on heavy selling by traders who assumed that the end of hostilities in the far east would necessarily curtail the demand for the metal. There was also an increasing belief that the recent speculation in the metal had reached its limit for a time.

Reading's decline of more than 2 points was regarded as quite natural in view of the company's poor showing for July.

A dissolution of the brokerage firm of Henry Sproul & Co., one of the oldest in the city, will occur on or before October 1. Charles A. Painter and James W. Scully will retire and form a new partnership, in which Daniel Beech, cashier of the First National Bank of Birmingham, will become a member, and it is understood that they will apply for membership in the New York stock exchange. Mr. Painter is president of the Pittsburgh stock exchange and Mr. Scully is a member of the latter. Henry Sproul will continue the firm of Henry Sproul & Co., which has memberships in the New York, Philadelphia and Pittsburgh stock exchanges and the Chicago board of trade. Messrs. Scully and Painter have been members of the firm of Henry Sproul & Co. for about five years, and during that period the house has had a large and successful following. Mr. Sproul has been in the brokerage business for about 25 years, and is acknowledged to be one of the most experienced men in the business.

It is reported that at the regular meeting of the directors of the National Fire Proofing Company in September some definite action will be taken regarding the authorized issue of bonds by the Federal City Manufacturing Company. It has been current gossip in financial circles for some time past that a hitch had occurred in the issuing of these bonds, which were to be first offered for subscription to the stockholders.

In the local curb market Peoples Trust of the South Side was offered at 125; Pittsburgh Life and Trust, 100 bid; Guaranty Trust, 154 asked; Window Glass Machine common, 10 bid, 12¾ asked; same preferred, 23 asked; Fayette County Gas, 92 bid, 93 asked; Union Natural Gas, 108 bid, 110 asked; Kansas Natural Gas, 53 bid; Golden Anchor, 32c bid, 34c asked; Oriental and Masbate, 80c bid, 85c asked; Red Rock, 75c bid, 78c asked.

Pittsburgh, Crafton & Mansfield Railway 6s sold at 113 and accrued interest.

Members of the Pittsburgh stock exchange yesterday voted to adjourn on Saturday, contingent upon the adjournment of the New York stock exchange on the same date. Monday will be a legal holiday.

The London Economist in a recent issue said: "If we assume that peace were concluded without the payment of any indemnity by Russia, in place of a huge Russian loan, we should probably have two loans by Russia and Japan, for the outlays which the latter country will yet have to meet in connection with bringing home the troops, repayment of debt, and so on are enormous. Moreover, were the railway in Manchuria to be ceded to Japan and resold to China, there might even be a huge Chinese loan to pay for it. But even so, these loans would be peace loans, and the terms on which they would be raised would, therefore, not materially differ from those of a large indemnity loan raised by Russia. There would, however, be one important difference. In the case of a purely Russian loan, by far the greater portion of the amount would be raised abroad, while, in the case of Japanese or Chinese borrowing, or both, a good deal of the cash would come from this country. Therefore, it is conceivable, that the effect of a double or triangular operation, as compared with a single Russian loan, might be less favorable to the course of money rates here."

The July report of Canadian Pacific shows an increase of $259,341 in gross earnings, and an increase of $153,126 in net.

It has been 18 years since a call was made in the month of August for a statement by the national banks.

In the fiscal year ending June 30, Louisville & Nashville earned, after allowing for all fixed charges, sinking fund payments, etc., 11.15 per cent on its capital stock of $30,000,000. This compares with 11.14 per cent earned on the capital stock in the fiscal year 1904. During the year Louisville & Nashville made four new records worth mention. It broke all records in gross earnings, its net earnings were the greatest ever reported, its return to stockholders were the best in its history, and its total net income was the largest in any fiscal year.

The depreciation in the market value of 45 Kaffir stocks quoted in the London market was more than $195,000,000 during the first six months of 1905. A moderate recovery from last price during the month of August.

MARKET FAILS TO REACT ON GOOD NEWS OF PEACE

Brokers Express Surprise at Failure of Public to Enter the Buying.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—The Herald this (Thursday) morning says:

Much disappointment was expressed in the stock market yesterday over the failure of the public to respond in any marked degree to the conclusion of peace between Russia and Japan. To what extent the public bought is, of course, unknown, but it was not sufficiently heavy to absorb the offerings in the market, and prices receded. Securities, while heavy, were not weak, and the decline did not average a point throughout the general list. They were chiefly extensive in the recent active issues, and these broke, and generously, for that reason, to a much more inconsequential than they actually were. The volume of business decreased somewhat. Speculation, while mixed, was rather depressed by the action of the market.

Peace at the conclusion of the Portsmouth negotiations was the controlling influence in the markets of the world—that is, the reaction in the local market. Foreign markets were all reported as better, even buoyant, as a result of the termination of the war. The war issues, that is, bonds of Russia and Japan and national funds, advanced sharply abroad. It was thought that the failure of the local market to respond was due to the reports that Russia and Japan would both be compelled to borrow money. Of course, it is a foregone conclusion that both will have to negotiate loans, but it is not likely that these loans will be brought here until late this or early next year. Of general news yesterday there was next to nothing.

GETS A LETTER FROM A GIRL SUPPOSED TO BE DEAD

Mystery Surrounding the Disappearance of Katherine Richey at Last Cleared Up.

The mysterious disappearance of Katherine Richey, two years ago, from Homestead, was explained in a letter received from the girl yesterday by Miss Christine Bois of Ann street, Homestead, with whom the girl made her home.

The girl's parents formerly lived at Glenfield, but Katherine made her home with the Bois family at Homestead. She was sent to Pittsburgh on an errand, and disappeared as completely as if the ground had opened and swallowed her.

The police throughout the country were enlisted in a search for the girl, but without success, and she was thought to be dead.

Yesterday Miss Bois received a letter from the girl, who is now 18 years of age. The letter was written from Boston, where she is living with a family she knew in Homestead. In the letter she stated that she met a member of the family in Pittsburgh on the day she left, and was induced to go to Boston.

POLICEMAN ARRIVES IN TIME TO SAVE M'CALL

As Mrs. Ellen Goggins of Fraval street was passing an alley near her home she says she was suddenly attacked by William McCall of 129 Meadow street and dragged into the alley. McCall telling her to be quiet or he would beat her head with a brick. Mrs. Goggins screamed and fought the man, and her cries were heard by her husband, who ran to her assistance. Between the two they had about finished McCall, when Officer William Jones, who also heard the cries for help, ran up and arrested him. McCall was taken to the police station in a very bad condition, and held as a suspicious person.

PRICE CAUSE OF DELAY IN BUYING

U. S. Steel Corporation Has Temporary Arrangement for Bessemer Merchant Iron.

BAR IRON ADVANCES $2 A TON

By a temporary arrangement with the Bessemer association controlling the output of a majority of the Mahoning and Shenango valley merchant furnaces, the United States Steel Corporation is tiding over its pressing need for Bessemer iron.

In the meantime the pig iron committee of the corporation is trying to secure its September and possibly its October supply of outside iron. It is said the question of price is the cause of the failure to buy the iron so far. The furnaces are insistent upon $15, furnaces, for September delivery, and quotations beyond October 1 are not made willingly. The corporation is trying to secure the iron for $14 50.

It is probable that some arrangement will be made in the next few days by which the purchase may be effected. Until this deal is concluded there is a scarcity of other purchasers, all holding off until the main buyer has finished the deal.

The quotations on bar iron have been advanced by the Republic Iron and Steel Company from $1 60 to $1 70. The market has been strong in this line for some time past and an advance was to be expected.

The tube business also was brightened this week by the booking of the first large order obtained for months past. The leading interest is contracted with the Ohio Fuel Supply Company for 60 miles of 18-inch pipe for the company's new pipe line into Cincinnati.

The finished lines generally are very strong. Bread structural mills have enough business booked to insure their activity into next year.

The Hardware Market.

The hardware business shows a very active condition at this time, orders for good lots and for good quantities coming from salesmen on the road and direct from the retail trade, the orders covering demand for varying lines of goods. Builders' hardware, house furnishing goods, tools and supplies of various kinds and heavy hardware continue to move in good quantities. A fair demand still exists for bicycles and automobile sundries, a few bicycles also moving out. The window glass business shows some activity, the feeling actuating purchases being the idea that but very little glass of certain sizes will be made for some time to come. The trade accordingly is trying to keep stocks in proper condition. Prices are very firm and seem likely to be slightly higher. Prospects are excellent for a continued good business, not only in this line, but in all lines, manufacturers reporting very good orders on hand. The Bindley Hardware Company furnishes the following quotations:

Columbia pocket knives, discount 35 per cent; Albion hatchets, discount, 40 and 10 per cent; Bindley canal shovels, $6 50 a dozen; Great Western files, discount 70 and 10 per cent; sheet iron, base, No. 26, $2 35 the 100 pounds; galvanized sheet iron, discount 70 and 10 per cent; sash weights, the ton, $27 00; window glass, first and second brackets, B single, 90 per cent off list of October 1, 1904; all other sizes, single and double, 88 per cent off list of October 1, 1904, for immediate acceptance only; Albion sewing machines, discount 25 per cent; blue and white enameled ware, 60 and 10 per cent; Albion hot plates, 40 per cent; Albion lanterns, 40 per cent; hay forks, 60 per cent.

CONSERVATIVE POLICY IN BUYING PIG IRON

Recent Purchase of 25,000 Tons of Bessemer by the United States Steel Corporation on Basis of $14 50.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—The Iron Age tomorrow will say of the iron and metal trades:

Apparently the United States Steel Corporation will pursue a cautious policy in its purchases of pig iron. The company has just bought 25,000 tons of Bessemer pig, for delivery during the first half of September, paying for some of the iron on the basis of $14 50 a ton and for some of it up to $15 a ton. It is understood that the Corporation has now in blast 92¼ per cent of its total furnace capacity.

CLEVELAND, Aug. 30.—(Special.)—The Iron Trade Review tomorrow will say:

The glad tidings of peace terms agreed upon between Russia and Japan have come as an assurance of increased industrial activity in those countries in the not far distant future rather as a guarantee of immediate increase in orders, although it is reported that representatives of the Japanese government are already in the United States negotiating for large purchases. On account of the fairness and the prominence of the president of the United States in the peace agreement, it is anticipated that this country will be regarded with greater favor than ever before by both nations, and will be an important factor in the development of the far east.

Evaporated Fruit.

NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—The market for evaporated apples is without change. Common to good are quoted at 4½@5c; prime at 7@7¼c; choice at 7½c, and fancy at 8c. Prunes are very firm and a number of sizes are practically out of stock in the local market. Quotations range from 4¼c to 7½c. Apricots continue quiet. Choice are quoted at 8@8¼c; extra choice at 8½@8¾c, and fancy at 9¼@10c. Peaches show no change, with nothing offering for immediate delivery, but fancy grades which are held at 11¼c. Raisins are in a strong position owing to the small supplies. Loose Muscatel are quoted at 4¾@5¼c; seeded raisins at 6¼@7¾c, and London layers at $1 00@1 15.

ALL LINES IN LOCAL MARKETS HOLD FIRM

Trade Continues Fair, Supply Is About Equal to Demand and Balance Rests.

Remarkable firmness was the only characteristic of the local markets yesterday. Not a single quotation was changed in any line and the trade seemed about as it has been for the past week. Receipts were light, about equal to the demand, and there was nothing of moment doing at any hour of the day.

The flour market persistently held its figure, although it is weak and growing weaker. Jobbers are looking for a drop, but not one of great proportions. They say the decline will be only gradual, but it will decline.

Butter, eggs and cheese continue firm. Green goods and fruit are already sale at good prices. Next week the grapes will begin crowding the market. There are some in now, but the first week in September always begins bringing the heavier crop.

HAY AND GRAIN.

Receipts.

Receipts yesterday were: Pennsylvania, 22 cars hay, 8 cars corn, 16 cars oats, 2 cars straw, 4 cars feed, 7 cars rye. Baltimore & Ohio, 2 cars hay, 1 car corn, 2 cars straw, 1 car feed. Lake Erie, 3 cars rye, 2 cars hay, 1 car oats.

There was little or no change in market conditions yesterday. Hay still continues in good demand, especially the better grades. Oats are dull. Receipts of car corn are on the increase and the market is weaker.

NEWS FROM THE MINES.

Ore running H20 a ton has been struck by lessees in the Mary McKinley mine, Cripple Creek.

Some of the principal stockholders of the West Gold Hill Mining Company of Gunnison county, Col., who are residents of Wheeling, W. Va., have been at the mines for the past three weeks, spending their summer vacation there, and are gratified with the prospects. They were there when the new tram and mill were started and will remain until next week. They are fully convinced that their mines from this time forward will be a steady money-making proposition.

Idaho Springs, Col.—The deal which has been pending for the past six months for the purchase of the Aduddell group of claims, on the line of the Newhouse tunnel, was consummated yesterday, the property being acquired by J. A. Simmons and associates of New York city, the reported consideration being in the neighborhood of $100,000.

The Gold Sovereign company is installing a larger hoisting plant over the main shaft, it being necessary because of the great amount of ore now being broken.

Laramie, Wyo.—The Wyoming Development Company, owning 1,500 acres of placer grounds on Douglas creek, is negotiating with eastern people for the outright sale of its placer deposits for $50,000, or, failing an outright sale, a liberal royalty to the company on gold placer working returns, the acceptance by the eastern capitalists of one or the other company propositions being already assured. These placer deposits are among the richest in the west, actual panning tests displaying as high as $1 a yard of golden gravel.

Boulder, Col.—One of the most important developments in a mining way that has occurred in Northern Colorado is at the Boulder county property at Cardinal, on the line of the Colorado & Northern railroad, and in the famous old Caribou district. Since January 1, 1904, the management has been driving a tunnel to cut the vein at a point about 500 feet beneath the bottom of the shaft. The vein has just been cut at a distance of 2,200 feet from the portal of the tunnel, and there is disclosed at this point a full breast of ore as wide as the tunnel, which is five by seven feet in the clear, and there is no telling as yet how much wider the ore body is. The dip of the vein has made the tunnel 100 feet shorter than was expected. The ore is of the same character as that above, where an immense amount has been blocked out, after years of development, having a value of about $50 or $75 a ton for the entire vein matter. This property is owned by Theodore L. Barnadall of Pittsburgh, Pa., and C. F. Lake of Boulder.

The Metal Market.

NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—There was a sharp break in the London tin market, with spot closing at £150 5s, and futures at £149 12s 6d. The local market, which has been sustained chiefly by the firmness abroad, was also lower, closing weak at $32 75@32 85. There was also a sharp break in the London copper market, quotations going off about £1 and closing at £71 10s for spot, and £71 for futures. Locally it is said that the tone of the market is hardly as firm, but lake and electrolytic are still quoted at $16 50@17 00, and casting at $16 12½@16 37½, these prices being more or less nominal. Lead was higher at £14 5s 3d in London, but remained quiet at $4 85@4 90 locally. Spelter also advanced abroad, closing at £25 12s 6d in the London market, while locally it was quiet at $5 70@5 80. Iron closed at 51s 3d for Glasgow, and 49s 3d for Middlesboro in the foreign market. Locally, the situation was without new feature. No. 1 foundry northern is quoted at $16 50@17 25; No. 2 foundry northern at $16 00@16 75; No. 1 foundry southern at $16 25@16 50, and No. 2 foundry southern at $15 75.

INDICATIONS FOR EXTENSION ARE SAID TO BE FAVORABLE

The indications for another extension to the Yellow Creek field, in Calhoun county, are quite favorable. Two miles northeast of the development on Leather Bark run, across the line in Ritchie county, Zinn & Co. have put their test on the William Sherwood farm to pumping from the Berea grit, and it is producing 15 barrels a day. The well had considerable salt water, but the company is depending and the oil increasing. The location rather than the size of the well is important. New work will at once be started on a southwest line in the direction of the oil field. In the edge of Roane county, adjoining Calhoun, the Southern Oil Company is down 1,800 feet at its test on the J. Nuzter farm. In the Sowards Run district, in Calhoun county, the Carter Oil Company is drilling at 600 feet at a test on the C. C. Connelly farm.

At Freemansburg, Lewis county, the Philadelphia company has drilled its test on the C. E. Woofter one-acre through the 30th sand, and has a fair gasser. West of Weston, in the same county, the South Penn Oil Company has drilled an old well on the Snyder Bros. farm from the salt sand and the fifth sand has been tapped. The well was drilled last year, got some oil in the salt sand and produced for a short time from that level. At the time it was thought a new pool had been discovered, and test wells were drilled in every direction from it, but all came in dry.

In the Salem district, Harrison county, the South Penn has drilled its second test on the L. E. Williams farm five feet into the Big Injun and the hole has filled up 2,000 feet with fluid. This is a new feature for the Salem district. None of the wells completed previously got oil in such quantities in the Big Injun formation. In the same district the South Penn has drilled its No. 4 on the Ed Garrett farm 15 feet into the Gordon and the hole has filled up 1,400 feet with fluid. In the Smithfield district, Wetzel county, the South Penn has drilled No. 4 on the McIntyre-Peterson farm 45 feet into the strap, and the well is showing some oil. In the same district, the same company has drilled its test on the T. A. Harris farm 6 feet into the Big Injun and has developed a no commercial gas.

In the new Berea grit development on Wolfe creek, north of Steubenville, Jefferson county, a new producer has been drilled in to advance of developments, and adds an extension to the pool. The new well is owned by the Casteel Bros., and is their test on the H. B. Elson farm. It is good for 30 barrels a day. The Wells creek pool was opened last spring by the Chester Dyke, when they drilled in a test on the W. P. Buck farm and got a good producer. Since then they have completed eight wells on their farm, and though no dependable test wells have been completed in advance, but with two exceptions those in Gaston.

In the Jerusalem district, Monroe county, P. L. Mooney & Co. have completed a test on the McKeirl heirs' farm, and have a gasser in the Big Lime, West of the Hoover pool, in the same county, the Carter Oil Company has the rig completed for No. 3 on the Hammond Bros. farm. Four other wells were completed in this district during the month—No. 1 William Tracy and No. 2 Alonzo Hoops farms—and both oaths in dusters.

Near Bandysville, Knox county, the Logan Oil and Gas Company's test on the McKee farm has been drilled through the sand, and was not fingered. It was at first thought that it would make a 50-barrel gusher, but the estimate was placed too high. It will not be good for more than 15 or 20 barrels a day when put to pumping.

Coffee and Sugar.

NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—The market for coffee futures opened steady at an advance of 10@15 points on steady European cables, and smaller Santos receipts. Offerings were very light, recent rumblings having greatly reduced the encouraging long interest, and with a noticeable demand from Wall street and trade interests, the market ruled generally steady around the opening figures. The close was steady at a net advance of 10@15 points. Sales were reported of 19,750 bags, including September at 7.30c; October at 7.30c; December at 7.40@7.45c; March at 7.60c; May at 7.80c, and July at 7.90c. Spot was steady. GOOD WEATHER WEAKENS CHICAGO WHEAT MARKET

However, Corn and Provisions Advance and Oats Are Practically Unchanged.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

CHICAGO, Aug. 30.—The wheat market was weak from the start. At the opening the September option was off ⅛c to ¼c to ⅜c at 78¼c to 78¾c. December was down ⅛c to ⅛@¼c at 80⅝@80¾c to 80½c. The main factor in the situation was the condition of the weather, which was still of the best kind for harvesting the spring-sown crop, both in the United States and Northwestern Canada. Reports from that section indicated an extremely liberal yield. This helped to increase the selling pressure. Another weakening influence was a moderate decline in the price of wheat at Liverpool. Throughout the day September delivery was subjected to persistent selling, mostly from pit traders, though a prominent long had liberal offerings. Until late in the day the market lacked any bullish incentive and prices steadily declined. For September the lowest point of the day was reached at 77¾c. December sold off to 79¾c. During the last half hour a slight rally occurred on buying by shorts, who were forced to cover by a report from Kansas City claiming small lots of wheat had been worked for export via the Gulf of Mexico. At the close, however, the general tone of the market was rather weak. Final quotations on September were at 78¾@78½c; December closed at a loss of ⅛c to ¼c at 80⅝@80¼c. Clearances of wheat and flour were equal to 283,000 bushels. Primary receipts were 780,000 bushels, compared with 1,080,000 bushels last year. Minneapolis, Duluth and Chicago reported receipts of 283 cars, against 198 cars last week and 264 cars a year ago.

The feature of trading in the corn market was a sharp upturn in the price of the September delivery. Pit traders sold short early in the session on the expectation that the usual eleventh-hour liquidation would cause a considerable decline. The market, however, received excellent support from cash interests and commission houses. In consequence early sellers returned buyers the last half of the session, resulting in a radical advance in the price of the September delivery. Distant deliveries were firm in sympathy with the bulge in the price of the September option. Weather was again favorable for the rapid maturing of the crop, and cables were lower. The market closed firm. September opened ⅛c lower to ¼c higher at 51⅜c to 52c, sold up to 53⅜c and closed at 52¾c. December ranged between 42⅝c and 43c, and closed ¼c higher at 42⅞@43c. Local receipts were 423

PLACES ORDERS FOR 5,000 CARS

Pennsylvania Wants 10,000 More Soon—Year's Tonnage Now Equals 1904's Total.

IT WILL REACH 125,000,000

The Pennsylvania Railroad Company has decided to apportion an order of 5,000 cars for delivery beginning January 1 between four of the leading car companies—the Pressed Steel Car Company, the Standard Steel Car Company, the Cambria Steel Car Company and the American Car and Foundry Company. There will be 10,000 additional cars ordered in a short time. This addition of 15,000 cars to the 12,500 placed for this year's delivery, makes a total of 27,500 freight cars ordered by the Pennsylvania for 1905-6. This equipment represents an outlay of about $30,000,000, while the engine equipment ordered for this year alone will cost about $11,000,000.

"Ten thousand more freight cars are to be ordered by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company," said an officer of the company. "This contract is in addition to the 5,000 cars decided upon by the management several days ago, and includes all the extra rolling stock required by the Pennsylvania lines east and west of Pittsburgh for the next 12 months."

Of the 15,000 cars to be ordered, 10,000 will be a direct addition to the system's rolling stock, which now totals 203,000 freight cars for the lines east and west of Pittsburgh—in round numbers, 136,000 on the lines east and 67,000 on the lines west. The other 5,000 cars, as was noted in this column a few days ago, will be used to fill in vacant numbers. The first 5,000 of the additional equipment will be expected to begin to arrive for service soon after January 1, while the others will be ordered for delivery after April 1, 1906. Authority for this additional equipment was given by the board of directors before the adjournment for the summer months.

Tonnage Now Equal Total Last Year.

Something of the necessity for the railroads securing additional freight rolling stock is shown in the expression of a railroad man in a position to know the tonnage figures of the Pittsburgh district at first hand. He says that the tonnage of ore and coal handled in the Pittsburgh district so far this year is equal to the total tonnage of these commodities last year, while the finished product tonnage also nearly equals the total finished product tonnage of last. When it is known that the total tonnage of this district on the railroads alone amounted to about 80,000,000 tons, it will be seen that the total tonnage for 1905 will be at least 100,000,000 tons, eclipsing all former records and bettering the combined tonnage of a half-dozen of the largest ports of the world.

"The ore tonnage is now ahead of the total ore tonnage of last year, as handled by the Pittsburgh railroads," said this man, "and the coal tonnage equals last year's haul. To date the finished product freight will not quite equal last season's tonnage, but this will be overreached in a few weeks. There has never been such a summer season of continued heavy movement. On all of the roads the movement has been steady throughout the summer, with a slight increase from the spring, and another slight increase coming now. Pittsburghers may look forward to a tonnage record of possibly 125,000,000 tons for 1905, of which 100,000,000 tons will be handled by the railroads."

Valuable Map of Pittsburgh.

The firm of Friday & Co., the railroad contractors of this city, which also does a general contracting business, and is now engaged in building the Lincoln avenue bridge in the East End, has just issued the most complete map of Greater Pittsburgh ever placed before the public. Copies of the map have been sent to the railroad companies of this city. The map was prepared for Friday & Co. by Lippincott & McNeil, mining engineers and surveyors of this city. The map, in addition to the usual portions of the city shown in former maps of Pittsburgh and Allegheny, gives a street, street car, railroad and public county thoroughfare representation of all the boroughs south of Pittsburgh, including Carnegie and McKees Rocks, Greentree borough, West Liberty and the boroughs in Baldwin township; of Bellevue, Aspinwall, Sharpsburg, Etna and intermediate boroughs, and of a portion of Braddock, and all of the boroughs between Braddock and the city. The map is indexed, so that the finding of a street is an easy matter.

Permit for East Liberty Station.

The Pennsylvania Railroad Company yesterday secured from the city bureau of building inspection a permit for the new station to be built in the East End, which is to be known hereafter as Penn Avenue station. The permit calls for a structure of brick, one story in height, 160 feet long and 100 feet deep, the cost of which is to be $200,000. Rapid progress is being made on the sub-structure for the station, and the superstructure work will be begun within a short time. The building will not be ready for use until late in the winter.

The bids for the new Duquesne freight station of the Pennsylvania in the Point district, a plan of which was published by The Gazette last Sunday, are now in the hands of the officers and the contract will be awarded tomorrow, probably being announced from the office of Chief Engineer W. H. Brown at Philadelphia.

Gould Simply Confirms.

There has been little new in the expressions of George J. Gould since his return from Europe regarding the situation here or elsewhere for the Wabash. He has simply confirmed what has been outlined in detail by President F. A. Delano of the Wabash lines east of Toledo. It is expected that Mr. Gould will visit Pittsburgh in a few weeks in company with Mr. Delano to take up matters of interest here, including plans for the seaboard connection.

Big Roundhouses at Baltimore.

The Baltimore & Ohio railroad company has had plans prepared for two large roundhouses to be erected at the Riverside yard at Baltimore. The structures will have a diameter of about 200 feet each and will be built of brick and steel. They will be among the largest roundhouses in the country. These are in line with extensive improvements planned by the Baltimore & Ohio for the Riverside plant for the near future.

Lent Gets Two More Firms.

John F. Lent has just closed contracts with the Monarch Water Heater company of Allegheny and the Pennsylvania Rubber company of Jeannette, Pa., to act as traffic manager for each concern. These are in addition to the number of large shipping firms that now have Mr. Lent as their traffic manager. The outcome of such a venture as Mr. Lent proposed last spring was looked at in a pessimistic manner by some people, but the success that has attended his management of the traffic side of the business for the dozen or more firms testifies to his ability as a traffic manager.

Railroad Notes.

W. W. Atterbury, general manager of the Pennsylvania, left Philadelphia yesterday for a month's vacation in Maine.

John Gray, the Panhandle freight brakeman who was injured at Carnegie last week, is reported to be improving nicely.

C. E. Deirker, chief clerk to Shop Clerk W. E. Racbold of the Pennsylvania at Twenty-sixth street, is at Atlantic City.

W. C. Williams, conductor of the Panhandle's Washington express, will leave today for a two weeks' visit to Columbus and the lakes.

J. B. Cochran, after service since last April as general agent of the Erie railroad here, has resigned and will engage in private business in Cleveland. His successor will be named in a few days.

James Hutchey, platform foreman at the Union station, is again on duty after a visit with his family in Southern Ohio points. Walter Beaumont, mail transfer man on the platform, has returned from Mt. Clemens.

General Superintendent of Motive Power J. E. Muhlfeld and Chief Engineer and Maintenance of Way J. B. Dickson conferred with General Superintendent Robert Finney of the Baltimore & Ohio here yesterday. Mr. Dickson returned to Baltimore last night and Mr. Muhlfeld will leave this morning for conferences with officers on the lines west.

Frank Van Dusen, chief assistant general passenger agent of the Pennsylvania lines west, accompanied by Mrs. Van Dusen, returned from his summer sojourn at Cape Cod yesterday morning. He appears in excellent health from his rest, which was doubtless due to the 405-pound sword fish that he speaks about—not harpooned by himself, but just seen at Block Island while he spent a couple of days there.

W. H. Niebaum, Pennsylvania station master at the Union station, who went to Northern Wisconsin to join his wife and four daughters a couple of weeks ago, returned to Pittsburgh with them yesterday. Mr. Niebaum says that he caught the largest fish he ever caught in his life—and truthfully, too, for he admits that it was the first fish he ever caught. He says the experience was fine. It was a 37-inch muskalonge, weighing 15 pounds.

W. R. Sibley has been appointed agent of the Erie Despatch at Columbus, O., vice Huntington Fitch, resigned.

Broken Promise Causes Murder.

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—Rene Sanne, aged 24, a Norwegian girl, was killed here today by her fiance, Rudolph Williamson, aged 28, who had paid her passage from Norway in order to make her his wife, and to whom she had broken her promise to marry him, preferring another man. Immediately after the murder Williamson shot himself. He will die. The tragedy occurred in a Brooklyn apartment.

RESALE OF NORTH SIDE RESIDENCE

John Goettman Disposes of Aiken Residence at North Avenue and Poplar Street.

PUSHING VERONA BOULEVARD

John Goettman has disposed of the James H. Aiken residence in Allegheny, which he secured a few weeks ago in an exchange. The present deal was negotiated by John B. Fitzgibbon of the Real Estate Corporation, who secured the property for Mr. Goettman in part payment for the latter's warehouses in the commission district out Penn avenue. Although no definite information has been given out concerning the price for the house, it is said the present sale was for about $35,000, and on practically a cash basis. The Aiken house stands on 48x135 feet at North avenue and Poplar street. It cost $52,000 when built and contains 14 rooms, all finished in hardwood, and provided with three tile bathrooms. In its conveniences and construction the residence is one of the best facing the parks, and it will be occupied by a prominent local lumber merchant as a home.

Closing Good Realty Deals.

Three good-sized sales which have been pending for weeks were closed finally yesterday. Through L. A. Clark & Co., K. Klebansky secured title from Edward P. Newlin to 1509 Fifth avenue, consisting of 25x115 feet, extending back to Ann street, for $28,000. The buyer expects to clear the lot and improve it with a modern business block.

The property which R. G. Gillespie sold to Lewis Walker, Jr., lately for $22,500, and which is on the north side of Penn avenue, near Homewood avenue, Twenty-first ward, has been resold to Mrs. Alabama Vandervoort Hurd for the same price. The lot is 120x165 feet and is one of the finest in that locality for residence purposes.

Joshua G. Spiane, president of the Pittsburgh and Allegheny Telephone Company, has got the deed for the residence of Louise T. McCutcheon in the Twenty-second ward, the consideration being $18,000. The house is a modern residence of 14 rooms and stands on 50x331 feet on the north side of Penn avenue, near Homewood avenue. The purchase was made several months ago.

The Strong Realty Company has bought from Charles E. Baden an improved property, 40x113 feet, in Shady avenue, Twentieth ward, for $10,500.

Expect Much from Boulevard.

The practical assurance that the proposed Verona boulevard will be built this fall is causing a decided stir among property owners all along the line, who see in the improvement a chance to dispose of their holdings at considerably higher prices than have prevailed lately. Most of the route has already been surveyed and a corps of engineers was busy last week staking out the line along Hartman's hill in the Twenty-first ward. The boulevard will be nearly two miles long and will run to Verona, passing over Lincoln avenue, near the Travella boulevard. From this point it will go north through the Hartman property, and by a deep curve swing around south of Coleman station to the big Schoenberger tract, which is as far as the survey has been completed. The boulevard will cross Coleman hollow and will connect, it is said, with some of the city boulevards in the East End. It is strongly suspected by many that a street car line will be run along this boulevard, which will be 80 feet wide, but its very irregular course would seem to preclude the probability of this move. On both sides of the proposed boulevard there is a large amount of vacant frontage which will be greatly benefited by the improvement, inasmuch as it is now hard to reach. The new street would also afford a handsome driveway through the extreme East End and would divert much travel to Verona. Efforts are being made to buy small parcels of property in the vicinity of Lincoln avenue, where the course of the boulevard is staked out, but no plans of the buyers have been made public yet.

Henry Phipps to Spend $300,000.

Henry Phipps has been granted a permit for the erection of an eight-story store and office building at 947-949 Penn avenue, where work on the structure has been started. The estimated cost is put at $300,000, and the building will be one of a half-dozen similar structures that are going up this year within a distance of three squares. All of them are designed for big mercantile establishments and when completed will give that part of Penn avenue a decidedly better appearance and make it one of the best business neighborhoods in the city except Fifth avenue and Smithfield street. Evidently Mr. Phipps has not lost his faith in Pittsburgh, for he continues to improve his downtown holdings in a way that shows he is looking a long distance into the future.

Two more apartment houses will be started in Wilkinsburg in a few days. They were designed by Architects Milligan & Miller. One will be erected by Miss Anna Scott at Rebecca and Mill streets, and the other by Mrs. Heber and Mrs. C. Taylor at Franklin and Mill streets. The buildings will be three stories high, 48x88 feet in size, and will contain seven suites of six rooms and bath each, which in those localities will rent for about $50 a month. Their cost is put at $22,500 each.

Architects A. Dudgeon & Son have plans for a 12-room brick residence for S. S. Smith at 605 North avenue, Wilkinsburg, to cost about $12,000.

The Pennsylvania Railroad Company was granted a permit yesterday for the erection of its new passenger station in Station street, to cost $200,000. The Pittsburgh Terminal Warehouse and Transfer Company received permission to erect a $45,000 office building in Carson street in front of its big South Side warehouses. Other permits were granted to H. Allan Machesney for four brick flat buildings in East Colwell street, Eighth ward, to cost $12,500, and to Mrs. William Hartslep for a concrete house in Sterling street.

TIME TO GET WISER.

State Health Commissioner Thinks Cities Should Improve Sewage Disposal Methods.

HARRISBURG, Aug. 30.—State Health Commissioner Dixon has been in communication with representatives of the various municipalities of the state in regard to pollutions of streams and the need of more efficient systems of sewage disposal. The officials of Reading, Conshohocken and Allentown have been advised that better sanitary methods must be found by getting rid of the drainage.

Commissioner Dixon has also addressed a letter to Mayor Weaver of Philadelphia in which he says: "Is it not time that Philadelphia had started an investigation to determine upon an efficient system of disposing of its sewage? I bet that you give this question your immediate attention."

HAY FEVER

Millions are now suffering from hay fever and millions of dollars are being spent, as a rule, in vain efforts to obtain relief. But relief and cure are easily obtained by using Pretzinger's Catarrh Balm.

Mr. C. H. Beale of 219 N. Perry St., Montgomery, Ala., writes: "After suffering more than pen and words can express, the use of your Balm gave me instant relief."

"To me the Balm is worth its weight in gold."—J. H. Apple, Everett, Pa.

"I never had anything do me so much good in my life."—Lafayette Fisher, Wynne Gap, Pa.

"Cured me in 1903 after suffering eight years and have no hay fever now."—Wm. Trachout, Summit Ave., Toledo, O.

Pretzinger's Catarrh Balm stops hay fever as sure as frost. All druggists sell it. Send a two-cent stamp to pay postage for free sample, or 50 cents for a full sized jar, also booklet on hay fever. Pretzinger Bros., Chemists, Dayton, O.

Pittsburgh Leading Hatters for 36 Years.

SOLOMON'S

K. Solomon & Company, Smithfield and Diamond Sts.

Hat specialists

Our men's hat department is a real specialty store. The experts who guide the destinies of this department run it to a perfection that most stores never dreamed of.

You will find our men's hat department conveniently located, just inside the main entrance on Smithfield street. Every endeavor on our part will be made to make your visit of interest.

Fall opening of men's correct headwear

Hatters for 36 years

OUR men's hat department is truly a specialty store—more clearly a specialty store because the experts who guide it have none of the prosaic side of the business to bother them. We furnish the money, pay the rent, keep house, attend to the bookkeeping, etc. The experts study style tendencies, help direct them; watch the production of the goods, keep their eyes and ears open to market conditions. You may rest assured that we do not risk 36 yrs. reputation to any small "Tom, Dick and Harry" hat manufacturers. The most noteworthy makers of men's hats in this country can be numbered on the fingers of one hand, and it is only from these makers that our experts buy.

Every hat is inspected by men who've no choice but to keep the perfect and throw out whatever shows flaw. No interest to them to pass a hat of inferior felt, skimped trimmings or imperfect workmanship.

Demand for an early showing of styles and rivalry in producing the best hats for the money are the basis of criticism and comparison upon which we wish you to judge our fall display. To say we are prepared for the coming season is to say that our stocks were never better assorted or in so great variety. We will be pleased to have you visit our department, and whether you come to inspect or purchase, every courtesy will be accorded you, and you will not be importuned to buy.

Silk Hats Men of discriminating taste will be quick to discover that our lines of silk hats are above criticism. None but the best makes. Prices are $4.00 and $5.00.

Opera Hats Men who desire to conform to all of the amenities of social occasions, where the opera hat is indispensable, will find that at $5.00 and $6.00 we can please their taste and purse.

Makes of hats that have helped us make our reputation

These are the only reliable high-grade makes of headwear that we can unqualifiedly recommend. They give satisfaction impossible to others.

John B. Stetson & Co.—Crofut & Knapp—and Roelof.

We also show a new English-made derby, manufactured expressly for K. Solomon & Co., under the brand of "Joshua Turner." We show these hats in all the latest fall styles, in the Knox, Youman and Dunlap blocks, sizes and shapes to conform to any head. Dimensions of crown 5¼, 5½, 5¾ and 6 in.; all widths of brims, sizes 6⅝ to 7⅞ in.

The celebrated "Ben Hur" derbies, $1.98

Hats that will hold their shape and color. A great many hats look well when you buy them. Have all the lustre desirable, but it doesn't last. Something wrong, of course. It's in the felt. The "Ben Hur" derbies are made from superior quality felt and splendidly made in every particular. They come in the Dunlap, Knox, Youman and Young styles; 5¼, 5½, 5¾ and 6-in. crowns; all widths of brims. We know of no better hat made for the money than the "Ben Hur" at..... $1.98

Derbies and soft hats at 90c that cannot be equaled under $1.50

AFTER months of comparing the products of the biggest hat manufacturers in this country, we contracted with a well known concern to manufacture for us a hat that we could sell at 90c which would embody the same grade of material, the same class of workmanship, the same trimming as hats that are retailed throughout the country for $1.50. There are hundreds and hundreds of hat stores which sell the product of skillful makers who can impart lustre and finish to a poor hat that makes it at first appear almost as good as a reliable grade. It's only when used that the defects appear and the trickery of the regular $1.00 hat is made apparent. We guarantee our 90c hats to be made of superior quality felt, strictly fast dye and finished in excellent manner. They are not $2.00 hats nor $4.00 hats, but $1.50 never did, and we doubt if ever will buy, a better hat than these derbies and soft hats which we sell at 90c
